HOISTS TRUCK

Westlake auto towing owner Kelley Greenwood hoists abandoned truck in preparation to hauling it off to his storage yard. Owner cost of reclaiming this truck would be $62 plus towing charges. Most are sold for junk.

County Tow Truck Operators

Spend $22, Make $15

By FRANK LaPIERRE

"You've got to take the good with the bad in this business," Daly City tow truck owner Kelley Greenwood explains.

Perhaps that's why Greenwood, and other tow truck owners up and down the county, ante up an estimated $22 per abandoned car to make between $10-$15.

Two truck operators in San Mateo County, like elsewhere in the nation, have the responsibility of hauling off abandoned vehicles if they want to continue to be contacted for emergency towing services.

Emergency towing is far more lucrative than towing off abandoned vehicles.

For one thing, if the emergency is a wreck, the insurance companies usually pay off. If they have been impounded for violation of some traffic law, the owners pay up.

Charges for this type service runs about $18.50, plus whatever the courts may levy against a motorist for violating the law.

But the towing of abandoned vehicles is a thorn in the side of tow truck operators.

Greenwood and Mrs. Beverly Dikas are owners of the Daly City-based Westlake Auto Towing Service. With Broadmoor Towing Service they alternate the responsibility of providing tow services to the city.

Once a car has been determined by police to be abandoned — about two weeks from the time a nuisance report is made — it is then towed off to a storage lot by Greenwood.

Westlake Auto leases a lot adjacent to a Southern Pacific railroad siding in east Daly City for $700 a month.

An "impound notice" is sent to the legal registered owner by police.

Such vehicles are usually unwanted wrecks. Cost of releasing a vehicle once impounded, is $62 plus tow charges.

Most owners are discouraged from claiming their vehicles because of this steep charge.

"If more owners knew of this penalty, perhaps they wouldn't abandon their cars in the first place," one tow truck driver said.

Greenwood's lot is fast filling up and he has had

San Bruno Mountain

Opposition Speaks at Hearing

Opposition to a proposed development on San Bruno Mountain came from several San Francisco residents during the sixth public hearing on the issue held before the San Mateo County Planning Commission in Daly City Monday.

Included in those opposing Visitacion Associates' plan to build a community of some 18,000 inhabitants in the "Saddle Area" of the mountain was San Francisco Supervisor John Molinari.

Molinari said the plan "has caused considerable concern to many (San Francisco) residents."

He said some concerns voiced dealt with the anticipated increase in traffic generated by the development.

Other concerns centered around the impact this new community would have on public transportation in the Mission Street corridor.

While Visitacion Associates predict 19 per cent of the mountain residents would use public transportation as their prime mode of transportation, the County Planning Commission staff projects a lower figure of nine per cent, Molinari said.

"In either case, this increase in ridership will have to be supported by (S.F.) Muni and BART, neither of which are supported by San Mateo County taxpayers," Molinari said.

"In either case, this increase in ridership will have to be supported by San Mateo County taxpayers," Molinari said.

Attendance at the Monday meeting was the smallest to date, with an estimated 300 people scattered around the huge gymnasium of the War Memorial Building.

Other San Francisco conservationists spoke out against the development, but Molinari's speech dominated the night's events.

Leading off the opposition's views at the meeting was Cooper Welsh of the San Francisco Airport Sound Abatement Center.

Welsh said many residents of the mountain would suffer from jet noise as a result of some 130 aircraft daily departures flying over the now-uninhabited area.

San Bruno Mountain is one of the few open spaces left and it is physically impossible to divert aircraft over open water all the time, Welsh said.

Planned drainage facilities for the mountain development came under criticism from Ben Hodge, a registered civil engineer and reportedly a specialist in drainage.

Hodge labeled the currently planned drainage facilities "inadequate as they now exist," and suggested planners develop "a logical plan" for carrying off rain waters to both the east and west sides of the mountain.

Geologist Tom Wright, an employee of Chevron Overseas, presented a highly technical explanation of fault and potential slide hazards, referring to various earthquake and slide disasters around the world as aids in understanding the potential problems of mountain developments, especially where high-rise structures are involved.

Molinari expressed his concern over the extra load the developmenmt might cause to San Francisco's water and sewage systems.

Deadly Zoo Raided By Police Officers

Daly City police found more than they bargained for when they went to the home of James Nyhan, 35, Wednesday.

In the basement of the home, at 353 Second Avenue, police allegedly found what some Steinhart Aquarium officials are calling the largest private collection of rattlesnakes, spiders, poisonous frogs and 24 different species of vipers in the nation.

An informant had told police they would find some narcotics inside Nyhan's home and a team, led by Det. John Kirby, went there. Inside police allegedly found some $3,000 in cocaine and marijuana. But a search of the basement area of the home was shortlived because of the "occupants" there.

No fewer than 60 snakes, including python, tarantula spiders, black widow spiders, piranha and snake fish were either caged or swimming around in tanks.

Each snake had a chart attached to its cage, indicating its behavior, eating habits and other data.

Likewise, the deadly fish and spiders had their own quarters and charts.

Nyhan is a San Francisco sheet metal worker who has lived there for seven years. For six years he has been raising and caring for his collection, feeding them 400 live rodents a day.

Apparently, Nynan is also a well-known tropical fish dealer and has won numerous prizes for his collection.

Kirby said police counted more than 250 trophies won by Nyhan for his tropical fish.

He also advertises in national magazines for his fish.

Much of Nyhan's snake and spider collection allegedly was transported by him across the border from Mexico.

Except for "a lot of hissing and rattling" the basement area is "in exceptionally clean condition," police said.

There are 27 varieties of rattlesnakes known. Nyhan has 24 species, it was learned.

He has been charged with possession of cocaine for sale, possession of marijuana, and violating numerous state and federal laws dealing with the collection of poisonous reptiles.

It was expected the collection would be cared for by the Steinhart Aquarium if room can be found there, police said.

Broadmoor Initiative Begins To Recall Local Commissioner

By JANET PARKER

Annexation discussions between Daly City and Broadmoor District officials have led to the filing of a recall intent against a Broadmoor Police Commissioner.

Five Broadmoor area residents led by Charles Phillips have initiated recall procedures against John F. McCloskey Jr., a San Francisco fireman and Broadmoor Police Commissioner.

Also named in the list of charges is Commissioner Vincent Murphy, a former Daly City postmaster who was appointed to the commission this year.

Broadmoor residents have been fighting annexation with Daly City and they allege the police commission is seeking annexation without consulting the property taxpayers.

McCloskey, however, said he has fought hard for the independence of Broadmoor and "it's a half a dozen people making all the noise." The situation has changed in the last year, he said.

Phillips said he did not believe McCloskey was the only person on the three-member commission that should be recalled.

"We're not singling out McCloskey," Phillips told the Post. "It's just that we are not allowed to go after the other two. We intend to vote them out."

Regulations established for recall by the county clerk's office stipulate an individual can not be recalled if his or her term expires within six months.

The terms of Murphy and Lou Manis, the third commissioner, expire in November.

"We intend to vote them out," Phillips, a taxi-cab driver, said.

After publication of the recall intent last Saturday, McCloskey had 14 days to enter a rebuttal. His rebuttal would appear on petitions that will begin circulating 30 days from publication.

Petitioners then must seek the signatures of at least 10 per cent of Broadmoor area's voters in order for the issue to appear on a ballot.

The six charges listed against McCloskey allege he has:

—Refused to support a popular vote determination concerning the district's annexation and consolidation with Daly City denying the resident "their basic due process of law."

—Rejected and disregarded desires of the majority of the district to remain independent and autonomous from Daly City.

—Divided district police officers from residents by supporting annexation.

—Emphasized Daly City interests above those of the Broadmoor residents who elected him.

—Held "secret negotiations and meetings" with Daly City interests concerning police district termination and annexation.

—Supported Murphy as a commissioner "with knowledge Murphy represented interests in favor of consolidation of district police department into Daly City.

Also signing the recall intent are Jerry Biagini, a history teacher; Beverly McMillan, a housewife; Gilbert Fontana, a carpenter; and Victor Muzzetti, who lives in the fire district.

"The commissioners have not examined thoroughly all the avenues," Biagini said. "They are too quick to move. They're not willing to listen to us, although we elected them."

Biagini said he and others spoke against the appointment of Murphy but the appointment was made anyway.

"We have an excellent police department," he said. "We have every reason to fight for it, defend it and keep it."

McCloskey did not know of the recall intent when contacted by the press Friday night. He received a registered letter Saturday containing a copy of the legally advertised intent and charges.

The commissioner said these people are "biased and guilty of tunnel vision."

Promotion Director Hurt In Haywagon Accident

Two North County men were seriously injured Friday when the haywagon they were riding on with 15 other persons was hit by a car shortly after 9:30 p.m. near Gilroy.

Don Frate, 39, of Castro Valley, promotion director for the Tanforan Shopping Center in San Bruno, and Bill Flanagan, 50, promotion director for the Serramonte Shopping Center in Daly City, suffered multiple internal injuries in the accident and were hospitalized.

A spokesman at Kaiser Hospital in Hayward said Frate's condition was stable.

Bill Flanigan was reported in satisfactory condition in the intensive care ward at O'Connor Hospital in San Jose.

The crowded haywagon was struck, as it travelled along a roadway without reflectors or lights, by a 21-year-old unidentified motorist, California Highway Patrolman Paul Landaker said.

The youth was not cited.

In all, seventeen persons suffered injuries as the haywagon rolled end over end off the road.

Mrs. Jan Frate, wife of the promotion director, escaped with bruises and lacerations.

The hayride climaxed a get-together by the Northern California Promotion Club — an association concerned with business promotions.

Flo-Ann Haskell, 38, of Sacramento, suffered head injuries in the accident and underwent surgery at O'Connor. She was listed in serious condition.

Close Call For Officer

It was a close call for Brisbane police officer Richard Jackson Sunday morning when he answered a disturbance call at 682 Sierra Point Road.

At the door was Robert Clark Code, 27, allegedly armed with a double-barrelled shotgun in one hand and a pistol in the other, police said.

According to police, Code had been drinking and "thought people were after him."

He first blasted out a front window with the shotgun and appeared to be prepared to do the same to officer Jackson, a police spokesman said.

However, Jackson talked the man into dropping the shotgun and pistol without incident, police said.

In the rear yard of the home, police allegedly found marijuana plants growing. Inside they allegedly found more marijuana and some pills which, they said, were benzadrine pills.

Code was arrested and charged with possession of marijuana, cultivation of marijuana and possession of narcotics paraphernalia.

Mission Street Report Has Merchant Impact

By FRANK LaPIERRE

A 46-page environmental impact report concerning a proposed parking lot in Daly City is causing an unfavorable impact among Mission street merchants.

The Mission Merchants Association last week voted to ask the city to stall action on rezoning of a strip of land fronting on John Daly Boulevard from residential to commercial.

Once the area is rezoned, merchants at the top of the hill — in the city's current redevelopment target area — fear any commercial activities there would detract from their business and plunge the shopping street deep into the red.

Many of the Mission street businesses are barely able to keep their heads above water now and are waiting to see which way redevelopment will aid them, one businessman explained.

George Smith, owner of the Mission Bell Motel, said he wanted the rezoning proposal shelved for at least six months to allow time for the city to gather facts on trends in the area.

This data is now being compiled for a new general plan, it was explained.

Meanwhile, until the new general plan can be put together "neither the city nor the merchants know which way they are going," Smith said.

The impact report was quietly carried out by the city, some merchants charge.

Sam and Gertrude Holzman applied to the city for a use permit to operate a parking lot along John Daly Blvd.

Holzman's parking lot would consist of about one-third of an acre and facilitate parking for 83 compact cars, according to plans.

The city feels the lot would alleviate much congestion on streets in the Bay Area Rapid Transit District station area, now caused by an overflow from the station.

The area was once a "fairly quiet neighborhood," the report notes.

But the coming of BART and improvements along John Daly Boulevard have changed all that.

Today, there is congestion, noise from trains and much pedestrian and motor traffic along John Daly to the 280 freeway interchange — one block west of the proposed lot.

Merchants agree the parking lot is good.

What they fear, however, is that the lot is only the tip of a commercial iceberg that could supply commercial and office space adjacent to the station and pull away business, and dollars, from Mission street.

The EIR discusses the shortage of suitable commercial and office space, while mentioning the need for the parking lot.

And while the area around BART has not produced any large scale physical land use alternations in the predominantly residential area to date, the possibilities could be dramatic, the EIR notes in its prefactory analysis on the subject.

"Generally, commercial office development adjacent to mass transportation facili-

Westlake Community Rated Tops by Home Journal

The Westlake area of Daly City has been named one of the 15 best suburbs in the United States — and the best in the 16 city of San Francisco Bay Area — by a nationally-known women's magazine.

In the August issue of Ladies Home Journal, a panel of judges selected the Westlake area based on its physical attractiveness, community pride, easy transportation, good schools, favorable taxes, racial harmony and low crime rate.

"The judges were asked to nominate three communities, and when the votes were tabulated, these were their selections as America's most successfull suburbs," author David Franke said.

Many Bay Area communities were admittedly "swankier" than the Westlake area, but the judges decided "this comfortably middle-class area offers a stimulating cross-section of people and excellent transportation."

Daly City's close proximity to the Bay Area Rapid Transit District station, San Francisco International area, Greyhound and and San Francisco Municipal Railway lines, plus a major freeway ("Junipero Serra has been called the 'World's Most Beautiful'") helped to make the determination, Franke said.

"Carefully-tended homes and lawns extend almost to the edge of the Pacific cliffs, where Thornton Beach State Park offers picnic facilities and 3,000 feet of ocean frontage.

"Daly City owns the remaining coastline south to neighboring Pacifica. And to the north the Olympic Country Club, Lake Merced and the San Francisco golf clubs form a greenbelt separating Westlake from San Francisco," the report explained.

The Journal noted that Westlake is mostly an area of single family homes "and has a reputation as a good place for a family to establish its first residence."

"Daly City and the Westlake area are well integrated while lacking the tensions and community splits often characterized in suburban and school integration," former Mayor and present Councilman McRobert L. Stewart told the Journal.

The Journal chose for its judging teams, news reporters, editors, chamber of commerce officials, businessmen, metropolitan chiefs of police, and leaders of labor, civil rights, conservation and religious organizations.

Handicapped Program Moves to Vista Grande

By JANET PARKER

Five year old Kim, a cerebral palsy victim, lies flat on her back and beams at the slightest bit of attention.

Bobby, 4, use to eat only through a bottle until someone showed his mother the child could feed himself.

Jimmy use to lay on the floor all day. Now, he pushes himself in his own scooter.

These are just a few of the 50 children who attended classes the last two weeks and will resume classes beginning Sept. 3 at Vista Grande School in the Jefferson Elementary School District.

The move to Vista Grande enabled the school, for the North County's severely multiple handicapped students, to survive.

Summer session ends Friday for the children enrolled in La Esperanza Development Center North. La Esperanza literally means "The Hope" and for these children, that's exactly what the center is.

Without JESD assistance, the program would have suffered, according to Ellla Allan, administrator of the county development centers.

"We would have been out on the street. We contacted every school district in the north end of the county. Schools fill up as quickly as they are emptied," Mrs. Allan said.

Vista Grande was vacated by JESD due to declining enrollment.

"We didn't have any other place to go," said Gary Hirsch, program supervisor.

The Vista Grande site offers five classrooms, a multi-purpose room, and an office on a single level. The former site was two levels, and many of the children were unable to transport themselves from level to level to use restroom facilities.

The program moved July 21 from a building near the Cow Palace in the Bayshore School District after a one year lease expired. The center now is hoping to sign a five year lease with the JESD.

About 12 of the children live in the JESD. Most others are from San Bruno, South San Francisco and Pacifica.

"The philosophy of the development center is to develop every kid to the maximum of his or her potential," said Hirsch.

Plans are underway to educate the Vista Grande community about the program this fall. Mrs. Allan said teachers and aides will be going door-to-door to explain the development center and its purpose.

"All the kids are considered multiple handicapped," Hirsch said. They are functioning on a severely retarded level with some other condition such as cerebral palsy, hyperactivity or muscular disorders.

All previously were placed in other programs but were unable to cope and subsequently were turned over to the center.

There are 20 employes at the center — one teacher and two aids for each of five classes in addition to a psychologist, social worker, speech therapis, nurse and developmental specialist.

A NEW CLASSROOM

Teachers and aides spent the weekend of July 18-20 moving and shipping equipment from the old to the new facility

The children, Hirsch said, "adapted quickly. They love it here. One of the kids now can get in and around the building in his scooter. He couldn't before because of the split level."

It's also easier to keep an eye on the children at the new site, he said.

Nothing was left at the school site for the program. The county moved in all its own equipment and some carpeting.

The children, generally, can be taught to do things for themselves. Even if it's just toilet training and feeding themselves, it's an accomplishment.

"We have professionals who have written these kids off. A year later, they are feeding themselves and are toilet trained. It's amazing!"

The students range from 3 years to 22 years.

"This is a lot more gratifying than teaching normal children," Hirsch said. "You can see they care and that they know you are trying to help them. They're so affectionate."

Parents frequently visit the center — especially since they moved into the new site. Hirsch welcomes visits by interested persons in the Vista Grande community. He says the more people who know about the programs like this, the more children who may be helped.

"The philosophy around here is that each child is brilliant. Even when we find one make's terribly slow gains we still keep at it," he said.

Where would the children be if not in this center?

"If they didn't have this, they would probably be left in their cribs," Hirsch said. Some of the children have flat heads from being abandoned for hours in their cribs. Others have lateral sclerosis — a curvature of the spine from having been denied physical activity at home.

The county, Mrs. Allan said, will pay $20,200 a year for building rent based on 12 cents a square foot.

"We hope we can get the five year lease but to this point the board's only agreed to three years. We just didn't want to keep moving around," she said.

ties makes a great deal of sense from an urban planning perspective," the EIR states.

Rezoned would be a four and a half block strip (68 lots) between Miriam street and a Southern Pacific Railway siding to the west, along John Daly Blvd. and Knowles avenue.

There is now some 19 acres — four of which are vacant — of commercial-office zoned lands within the Daly City limits.

"Given the city's apparent need for additional commercial office zoning, the combination of several planning considerations attest to the subject site's suitability," the EIR says.

Persons working in any commercial-office complex situated on the site would have ready access to the transportation hub formed by the freeway-BART station-bus system, it was explained.

Bruno Mt.

He found "the fact that a development of this magnitude will provide no relief for low income families . . . very disturbing."

County planners now have appeared in the North County five times, spending a total of some 21 hours listening to presentations — pro and con — on the proposed development.

Both sides in the issue have produced a steady stream of "expert testimony" during the proceedings, this far.

Proponents of the development started their presentations some five weeks ago, consuming two public hearings.

This was followed by opponents, special agencies and cities.

Once the opponents have completed their presentations, the developers will be given an opportunity to rebutt.

Trio Held In Gambling

Officers from three jurisdictions arrested three persons Saturday night and charged them with conspiracy and bookmaking, Dist. Atty. Keith C. Sorenson said today.

The alleged bookmaking involved bets on horse races, Sorenson said.

Arrested at their premises above their business, Dot and Andy's Club, 935 Airport Boulevard, South San Francisco, were Dorothy Boido, 49, and her husband, Andrew Boido, 61.

Arrested at his home at 1677 Juniper Ave., San Bruno, was Richard Grigg, 38.

Pacifica Campaign Limit Law Debuts

Pacifica council members Monday night introduced a draft campaign expenditure limitation ordinance that will, among other requirements, limit individual contributions to $100, give non-incumbents a $500 spending advantage over incumbents and place spending limitations on ballot measures.

The sponsor of the ordinance was Councilwoman Janice Fulford. Councilman Aubrey Lumley voted against the introduction. He said he favors a statewide campaign limitation statute but didn't like the way this proposal was written.

According to the code amendment, it's purpose is "to place reasonable limits upon campaign contributions and expenditures . . . to ensure that the amount of money spent is not the primary reason for the success of a candidate or the success or failure of a local ballot measure."

The ordinance requires that no person, other than the candidate, shall contribute money or in kind services to either a candidate or a ballot measure in excess of $100.

Incumbents will be allowed to spend up to $1,500. Non-incumbents may incur a campaign expense up to $2,000. Ballot measures would also have a $2,000 limit.

Reasoning behind the added amount for non-incumbents is that incumbents have an advantage over non-incumbents "in terms of name-recognition and other advantages.

"It is therefore necessary to provide different maximum levels of expenditures of incumbents than for non-incumbents," states the ordinance.

Each candidate, and any person, group or committee involved with a ballot measure would be required to file campaign disclosure statements.

Violations of the ordinance would be a misdemeanor with a $500 fine and six months imprisonment.

The council is expected to discuss the proposal at its next meeting.

Recall

The police district, he said, will be "economically unfeasible" after June, 1976.

"I was the one who fought the hardest for independence of Broadmoor," McCloskey said. "I've been on their side a long time. But there's a point in time you can't do it any longer."

McCloskey said he did meet with Daly City's city manager, chief of police, mayor and the district's fire commissioner, but that there was nothing secret about the meetings.

Under the law, if police and fire districts agree to join Daly City, and Daly City agrees to the arrangement, a vote of the people is not necessary.

There are six police officers in Broadmoor and a volunteer firefighting force that must be dealt with in any annexation discussion.

McCloskey said they entered discussions with Daly City "just to get ideas what this is all about."

The Broadmoor Property Owner's Association, according to secretary Margaret Fleischer, has believed "all along that the police commissioners are not listening to the people."

Although the association is not actively involved in the recall, members have been saying the same things the persons seeking the recall now are saying.

At one association meeting, members voted to investigate the procedures and feasibility for recall. However, the present recall committee formed and the association was not directly involved, she said.

Fair Gates Open

The 1975 San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta was opened at 6 p.m. Monday with a burst of pageantry dedicated to the Old West and the nation's Bicentennial.

More than 300 gathered at the gates to watch the California wagon, stagecoaches, mounted groups, the Dream Girl and princesses, and even "Zorro" (or his counterpart) parade from the the San Mateo's downtown area, then greet county supervisors who arrived on a surburban train drawn by a red, white and blue "Spirit of 76" engine.

After speeches by Sal Millan, fair manager, and others, including the state egg queen who brought a golden egg, the crowd was let in to roam the most spacious fair yet.

It immediately favored some of the new exhibits — the Early American circus with its big top, the Heritage Faire with its busy artisans, and the center court with its variety of foods.

High winds drove most indoors, and the Hall of Flowers, completely redesigned, again was popular.

So many areas have been added, particularly to the right of the main gate, that the crowd appeared thin. Actually, according to Millan, the opening night attendance of 3,605 at the turnstiles beat the 1974 turnout of 3,520. Millan added that as exhibitors poured in, they nearly doubled the crowd, bringing it in excess of 7,000.

Tow Trucks

to open a second lot primarily for wrecked cars.

Before an abandoned car can be sold for scrap by a towing service, necessary paperwork to start a "lien sale" proceeding must be completed and sent to the tate Department of Motor Vehicles accompanied by $5.

The DMV fee was $10, but tow truck lobbyists succeeded in having it lowered to the present $5 fee.

This fee is not returned, Mrs. Dikas, who is responsible for the office end of the business, said.

Even under ideal conditions the hulks are hard to get rid of, Greenwood said.

"But new laws dealing with these vehicles ties us up for months before we can get rid of them," Greenwood said.

The "minimum time" it takes the DMV to process these sale applications is 50 days, according to Greenwood and Mrs. Dikas.

Some cars have been using space in Greenwood's lot for a year.

Among the vehicles is a 1938 Mercury, a collector's item.

After Greenwood finally received clearance to dispose of the car from the DMV, no one would buy it.

"While it was in the process of being cleared for sale, everyone told me they wanted to buy it. It just didn't happen that way," he said.

Guns and narcotics have been found in some abandoned cars; however, police do not usually force their way into car trunks, preferring to wait until all efforts to locate the owner have been exhausted.

One case involving an abandoned car sticks in Greenwood's mind.

It concerns a man who called from Washington to inquire about his impounded car.

Told the car was indeed locked up, the man flew down, received clearance from police to claim the car, and went to the lot.

Once there, he ripped open the upholstery on the front seat, pulled out $800 in currency and left the lot.

"We never heard from him again. He didn't even pay us the towing charges," Greenwood said.

Most cars are abandoned around April — license-buying time.

Greenwood and Mrs. Dikas figure the costs for towing an abandoned car is $8.50 for a truck and operator; $5 to the DMV for application fee; and, $7.50 for office labor to process applications.

"All in all it's a losing proposition," Greenwood says.

In recent years, the state has levied a one dollar charge on licenses.

This money was supposedly earmarked for abatement of abandoned cars.

It would provide the necessary financial relief community tow truck operators say they need.

But an unidentified DMV official explained this money is used to clean up abandoned vehicles at state parks and beaches, and not for community towing services.

He cited a recent example where helicopters had to be called in to haul off abandoned cars in an East Bay Regional Park.

Daly City Man Reports Loss of Coin Collection

A Daly City man reported to police that two armed men robbed him of his $35,000 coin collection at gunpoint Friday night.

Sheldon Cooper, of Half Moon Lane inside the Crown Colony apartment complex near Serramonte, said the two men bound and gagged him and a female companion with surgical tape before taking the collection.

According to police, the men came to Cooper's apartment about 7:30 p.m. Friday and identified themselves as Federal Bureau of Investigation agents.

After gaining entry, they tied up Cooper and Hilda Elakeney and rummaged through a small safe inside the apartment where Cooper allegedly kept his coin collection.

Value of the collection was estimated by Cooper, police said.

Robbery

A 69-year-old Colma woman was robbed by a youth as she walked home near the corner of Evergreen and Mission Streets, shortly after 7 p.m., Saturday.

Zelda Murphy said the boy appeared to be about ten years old. He jumped from a car driven by an older youth, grabbed her purse and fled.

She lost about $60 and miscellaneous papers, police said.

The empty purae was recovered later in San Francisco, police said.

Brisbane Woman Killed

A Brisbane woman, Mary F. Dunlap, 42, died late Thursday after her car was involved in a head-on crash just south of Susanville.

Mrs. Dunlap was driving alone in a pickup truck north on Highway 395 about 35 miles south of Susanville when the accident occurred, according to California Highway Patrol Officer Russ Haley.

Haley said a van driven by Richard Merlin Chivington, 66, of Azusa, crossed the centerline at 9 p.m. colliding with Mrs. Dunlap's truck.

Mrs. Dunlap, Haley said, died in route to Washoe Medical Hospital in Reno.

Chivington and his two passengers, his grandson and daughter, also were killed in the collision.

Haley said Mrs. Dunlap was employed as a realtor. She was driving to meet her husband in Susanville at the time of the accident, he said.

Jack Blackburn, San Mateo County chairman for the 1975 United Way Campaign, has announced selection of John E. Rinell as chairman of the major employers division.

Grant for Sanitation Treatment

Congressman Leo J. Ryan, D-San Mateo, confirmed the award of a grant in the amount of $8,205,750 to the North San Mateo County Sanitation District by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

"This grant," said Ryan, "is the largest public works project in Daly City history.

It will be used for the enlargement and expansion of a wastewater treatment and reclamation facility, bringing the facility from primary to secondary level."

Ryan explained that primary treatment involved a mechanical purification process, while the secondary treatment achieves biological purification.

Groundbreaking on the mammoth project is expected in early September.

The deadline for applications to enter the Queen Isabell III contest has been extended one week, according to Nemer Gonzalez, chairwoman of the contest sponsored annually by the Holy Angels Latin Club.

Ten lovely girls have already filed applications. Prospects for a very lively contest seem excellent, Nemer indicated. And so, to enable even more girls to join the fun, the final filing date has been moved from August 3 to August 10.

Already in the contest and preparing to begin the sale of tickets and votes are Debbie Cabrera, Diana Luna, Angela Mendoza, Maria Maldonado, Pastora Baca, Melba Perez, Vivian Rofario, Theresa Rivera, Evelyn Huaveraas and Elizabeth Ordonez. Contestants selling the most votes will be named princesses, and the girl who has the highest sales record will be crowned the Queen at the Queen Isabell III Ball, Sept. 6. All the girls in the contest will be presented to the local Latin community during the evening's program.

Three cash awards, two for $25 and one for $50, will be presented at the ball. All profit from the sale of votes is earmarked for the Latin Club Scholarship Fund.

Gonzalez will be in the Parish House following the 10 a.m. Mass on August 3 and 10 to discuss the rules and regulations with prospective candidates and to accept application blanks from those young women between 15 and 18 years of age who wish to be included in the contest.

DALY CITY'S FRANK GALO, president of the Balboa Alumni Association wishes to remind everyone that the annual alumni picnic will be held Sunday.

According to Galo, other than a nominal parking fee there is no charge for the Balboa Fun Day. The committee has arranged games for children and adults and the park offers complete recreational facilities.

Unlike many alumni organizations, the Balboa Alumni is more than a social organization and its charter calls for the officers and members to address themselves to current problems at the school as well as maintaining several scholarship funds.

For further information about the picnic or the Alumni Association or to learn more about the Balboa Boosters, a sports oriented group which is comprised of non-Balboa people as well as alumni members, call Mrs. Joan Christensen, 467-5021, Mrs. Emily Sumrall, 826-8046, or Galo, 584-7747.

MRS. LUCILLE RENTMEESTER, president of the Fifty Plus Club of Pacifica, and her executive board are busily preparing for the club picnic which will be held August 27 in Junipero Serra Park.

Mrs. Rentmeester, the president's son, and his wife, Jean, will take charge of the cooking with Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan providing the beans made from her special recipe.

Members of the board who will be lending a hand include Mrs. Helen Sprowl, vice president; Robert Lee Hall, second vice president; Mrs. Thelma Van Winkle, recording secretary; Mrs. Elizabeth Hilke, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Almabel Williams, treasurer; Harold Williams, sergeant at arms; and Elizabeth Funderburg, Sam Dahlberg and Walter Green of the board of directors.

There will be a $1 charge for each member and guest attending the picnic. Mrs. Williams will be in charge of ticket sales.

MEMBERS of the incoming and the outgoing executive boards of the Friends of the Daly City Library (FDCL) met recently at the home of Mrs. Hubert Sandefur.

Plans for the coming year were discussed and Mrs. Olga Canada, the newly installed book review chairwoman, outlined plans for an exceptionally interesting year beginning with the first review in September.

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO'S Mrs. Louise Enberg, the director of the local unit of Friends Outside, has expressed gratitude to the Foremost-McKesson Foundation for providing a solution for the chapter's acute transportation problem.

The foundation has provided funds to rent a car to be used for the transportation of members until such a time as the organization can secure a passenger van.

Volunteers drive family and friends to the various prisons and jails in this area so that inmates may have visits from persons who would normally have no way to make the trip.

During the summer trips to Folsom prison, the facility at San Luis Obispo and Atascadero have been added to the regular junkets to the jail in San Bruno and San Quentin.

For further information call the Friends Outside office, 661-6900.

THE SUMMER SESSION of the Lakeside Presbyterian Church Nursery School began yesterday and will continue each Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday through August 22.

Mrs. Gertrude Madrosen of Westlake is the director of this school.

New Director for Epilepsy Society

Underscoring the importance of developing a viable program for epileptics in Marin, San Mateo and San Francisco counties, the Epilepsy Society of San Francisco has appointed a longtime businessman as its executive director.

Don Bartlett, 43, an epileptic himself, brings to his position the experience of a successful business career, as well as an intimate knowledge of the problems and needs of the epileptic in today's society.

For 14 years Bartlett was president of a corporation dealing in specialized personnel placement and understands the employment barriers facing those whom the Epilepsy Society is dedicated to help.

Bartlett will have the advantage of already knowing many of the agencies with which he will be involved.

A former member of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, the Better Business Bureau and of four regional and national personnel associations, he is equipped to present the goals of the Epilepsy Society to private and governmental organizations.

Bartlett attended Becker College, Mass., and the University of Miami, Fla.

He is a veteran, having served in the U.S. Air Force as a sergeant.

NELL NORTON

Zucchini's Serve As Casserole Highlight

Good morning, good cooks.

Judging by the crop that home gardeners are harvesting and by the price of zucchini in the market, now is the time to feature some recipes using this versatile vegetable.

With all its other good qualities, zucchini is a low calorie vegetable, and in this first casserole recipe it combines with others of the same type to make a very tasty casserole.

ZUCCHINI CASSEROLE

3 tablespoons butter
1 pound ground beef
3 tablespoons flour
1 can tomatoes (No. 2 size can)
6 medium zucchini
½ green pepper, minced
2 small onions, cut fine
1 bay leaf
½ teaspoon basil
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons parmesan cheese

Brown the one pound ground beef in the three tablespoons butter. Stir in the three tablespoons flour and blend well. Add the 20 ounces tomatoes, minced green pepper, chopped onions, one bay leaf, one-half teaspoon basil, one-fourth teaspoon pepper, one teaspoon salt. Cook slowly for 10 minutes.

While the sauce is cooking, slice the six zucchini into a low buttered casserole and sprinkle with three tablespoons parmesan cheese. Pour the meat sauce over top and sprinkle with the remaining three tablespoons parmesan cheese.

Bake casserole in 350-degree oven for one hour. Serve with rice or noodles. Serves 6.

ZUCCHINI AND CORN CASSEROLE

1 pound zucchini
½ medium onion, chopped
2 tablespoons oil
A healthy shake of garlic salt
1 can cream style corn, 202 can
2 eggs, beaten
Dash of pepper and a pinch of rosemary

Cut up the pound of zucchini and cook in a small amount of water until just tender. Place in a colander to drain while you prepare the rest of the dish.

Heat the two tablespoons oil, add one-half cup chopped onion and cook until the onion is tender and transparent. Add garlic salt. Combine the cooked onion with the can of cream corn and add the drained zucchini. Fold in the two beaten eggs and season with pepper and rosemary.

Place in 1-quart greased casserole and bake in 350-degree oven for about 45 minutes. Serves 6.

Woman Earns Group's Honor

MRS. MAY SAYLES

Mrs. May Sayles of Daly City was named Woman of the Year by Cable Car Chapter of the America Business Women's Association (ABWA) at the chapter's monthly meeting.

Annually, each ABWA chapter selects one of its members for this award.

Selection is based on the member's achievement in her field of business, education, participation in the association and in community activities.

Mrs. Sayles is active in facilities planning and is manager for Firemen's Fund American Insurance Company.

She will represent Cable Car Chapter in competition for the "American Business Woman of the Year" award.

Announcement of the national award recipient will be made at ABWA's 1975 National Convention, Oct. 9-12, in Cincinnati.

The American Business Women's Association was founded in Kansas City, Mo., in 1949.

It has more than 1,200 chapters and consists of more than 80,000 active members throughout the United States and Puerto Rico.

Today thousands of business women are being helped by the broad educational programs of ABWA.

They are kept informed of new business techniques, and meet business women from all fields of business.

Members gain increased confidence by administrative experience acquired in association activities.

They are encouraged to continue their own formal education, and through national and local scholarship programs, they assist thousands of women seeking advanced education.

More than $600,000 in scholarships were awarded by ABWA chapters throughout the country during the past year. The association's national educational fund provided an additional $140,000 for students. Currently, Cable Car Chapter is sponsoring scholarships for Janelle Janssen, Katherine McClendon and Anita Ng.

All are juniors in local colleges.

San Bruno Manager Reports Justification Of City Expenditures

During the course of his investigation into expense records, requested by Councilman Dick Griffith, Minford noted 42 expense entries from July 1, 1974, to July 1, 1975, that were not adequately justified.

Minford questioned those city employes and councilmen that had made the expenses and received, according to him, explanations that showed the expenditures were proper.

Only Councilman Governale was unable to explain eight expenditures totaling $45.

San Bruno City Manager Gerald Minford presented to the City Council this week a list of several city employes and councilmen who during last year provided inadequate justification for expenditure of city money, but who over the past two weeks were able to properly detail for Minford how and why they spent the money.

Assistant City Manager Jack Mulqueeney, Parks and Recreation Director Paul Crumm, Councilman Marg Kozkowski and Councilman Tony Governale were able to adequately justify to Minford expenditure of small sums of city money.

IT'S YOUR MONEY

Q. My brother and his wife were killed in an auto accident last month. Can their 19-year-old son, who's attending college, get any kind of social security payments?

A. Probably. Full-time students 18 and over who remain unmarried can get monthly checks until they're 22 if a parent gets social security benefits or has died after working long enough under social security. Today, more than 650,000 students 18 and over are getting social security checks. Tell your nephew to call a social security office for information about applying for benefits.

Services will be led by Rabbi Ira Book, assisted by Cantor Jacob Graudenz, who will chant the liturgy. Rabbi Book's sermon will be "Time to Get Ready."

Highlight of the evening will be the observance of birthday Sabbath.

To be called to the pulpit and presented with a token gift are the children of congregational members whose birthdays occurred during the months of June and July.

An Oneg Shabbat (social hour) will follow the Shabbat service.

The Sabbath morning service will begin 10 a.m. Saturday and also will be conducted by Rabbi Book and Cantor Graudenz.

To be read will be the Biblical Chapter (Parsha) "Re-ay" — "See."

A Kiddush will follow the morning Sabbath services.

SSF Sets Meets On General Plan

South San Francisco planning commissioners have set a series of hearing dates to put together four state mandated elements to the city's general plan.

Possibly the most extensive of these, the noise element was reviewed briefly this week. The proposed element is a thick document prepared by noise consultant Maurice Garbell and consists of three "books."

Commissioners set a public hearing on the noise element for Aug. 12. That will be followed by an environmental impact report public hearing on the element on Aug. 26. The city council is scheduled to hold its noise element public hearing on Sept. 3, according to City Planner David Hale.

Other elements being prepared jointly with other cities and the county, consist of a combined Seismic and Safety element and a Scenic Highways element.

The commission will review these elements at an Aug. 19 study session with a public hearing on them scheduled for Aug. 26. They are expected to go to the council Sept. 17.

Hale called Garbell's proposed element a "comprehensive document." He said "we (staff) are impressed with it."

One concern he said he had was whether the noise level in the industrial area was as serious a problem as elsewhere in the city. "We don't want to restrict development in that area," he said.

Hale said one source of noise over the city is due to planes leaving the Oakland Airport. He said they are a problem because they make a stop at San Jose almost immediately after takeoff.

This week's session consisted primarily of a quick glance at the proposed element and inclusion of some "catch words" that would make the document more flexible in some areas so as not to put the city in an uncompromising position.

Book One of the element contains proposed goals, policies, programs and official positions and recommendations to reduce the noise level in the city.

Book Two is a technical report compiled for information, guidance and reference. Book Three is a draft environmental impact report for the noise element.

There are nine specific goals listed. These are followed by proposed policies and a program to accomplish the desired goal.

The first five goals have to do with abating unnecessary noise from automotive vehicles, railroad lines, industrial plants, miscellaneous sources and from airport and flight activities. The latter includes San Francisco International, the Alameda Air Station and Oakland airports.

Goal six concerns adoption of a city building noise insulation ordinance. Inclusion of noise considerations in all future land use planning is goal seven.

Protection of noise-abatement flightpaths by establishing height limitations for proposed buildings and other structures is goal eight.

Goal nine discusses protection of noise-abatement flight paths by controlling light sources and light reflections within the city to avoid disorientation of pilots.

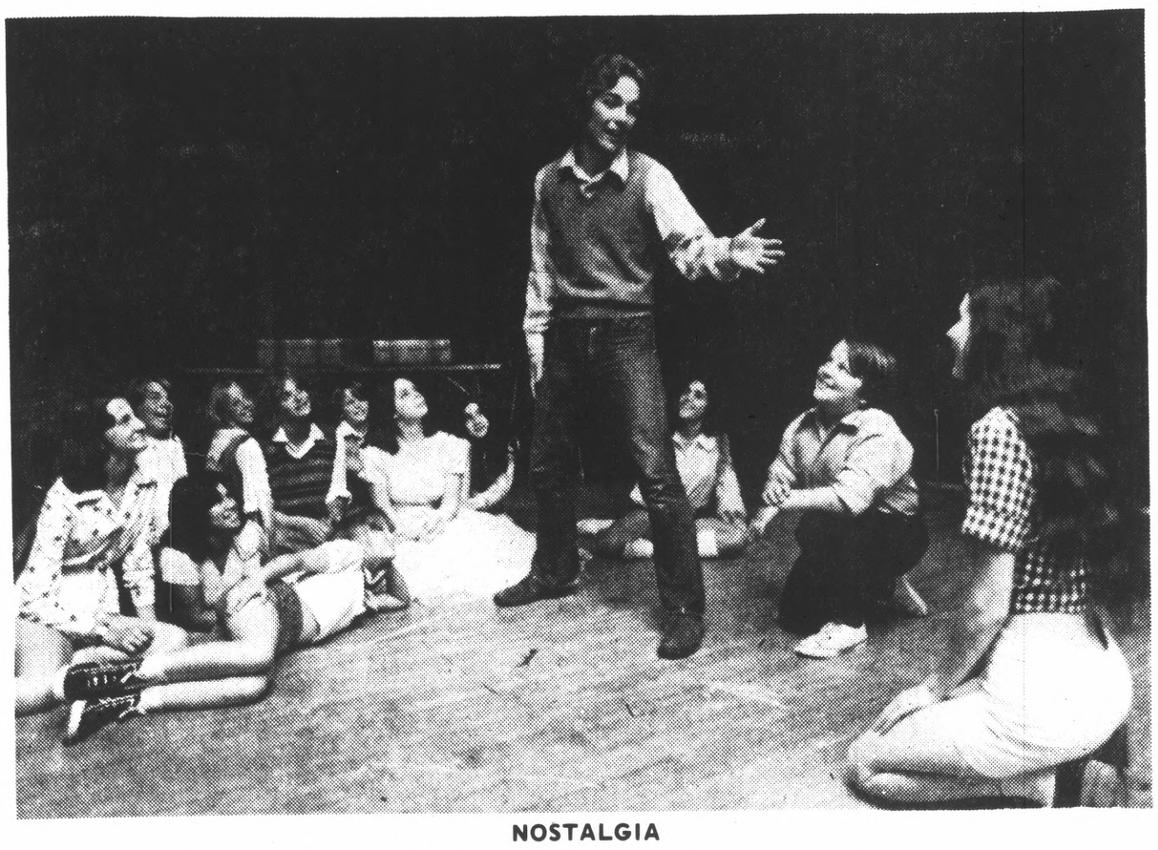
The task before the commissioners might be put in perspective by a Garbell comment in this report:

"In matters of noise it is clearly impossible to satisfy everybody," he said. "Noise to one person may be pleasing to another."

In other business, commissioners:

—Bid farewell to fellow commissioner Mario Raffaelli, who has declined reappointment after 12 years on the commission with a resolution of appreciation and a large cake with the number 12 on it.

—Scheduled as a study item at the next regular meeting proposed regulations for campers and other recreational vehicles.



NOSTALGIA

A bit of the past comes to life as Steven Price performs a song in "Babes in Arms," a production of the Daly City Summer Music Theatre. Performances of the 1940s musical begin Aug. 6.

'Babes in Arms' Set in Daly City

The cast and crew of the Summer Music Theatre, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, now are hard at work rehearing for "Babes in Arms," a musical comedy by Rodgers and Hart.

"Babes" originally was done on Broadway in the 1940's and eventually became a motion picture starring Judy Garland and Mickey Rooney. Later "Babes" was updated to the style of the 50's.

Well-known songs such as "My Funny Valentine," "Johnny One-Note," and "I Wish I Were In Love Again" are featured in the production.

The plot centers on a group of young apprentices who are involved in putting on a summer revue, but to their dismay they find it isn't that easy.

Singing, various dances, comedy, mishaps, as well as romance, all combine to make a wonderful evening of entertainment for all ages.

The performances are slated for August 6, 7, 8 and 9 at 8 p.m., in the Westmoor High School Little Theatre, 131 Westmoor Ave., Daly City.

Tickets may be purchased in advance at the Daly City Recreation Department, 134 Hillside Blvd., or at the door of each performance.

Prices are 50 cents for children under 12 and $1.50 for adults.

Reprieve

San Bruno's historic eucalyptus, its owner Mrs. Larry Medrano reports, will not be cut down until early next month.

The eucalyptus, reported to be the largest such tree in California and possibly the United States, was scheduled to be chopped down last month. But Mrs. Medrano of Hazel Avenue, said the company which has been requested to cut the tree down could not do so this month because of a conflicting work date.

Dr. Harold Biswell, a forest ecology expert now retired from the University of California at Berkeley, examined the tree last month and advised the Medranos it was dead.

Council Holds on Tax Rate

In a variety of complicated financial maneuvers, the Pacifica City Council tried Thursday to reduce its already tight budget.

As a result, the proposed general fund tax rate will be $2.029 — the same as this year.

The revised budget and tax rate are expected to be adopted by the City Council Monday.

The city staff originally proposed a budget that would have called for a 30-cent hike in the tax rate.

Mayor Aubrey Lumley told the council it had to choose which direction it would take — to maintain present services at an increased tax rate or reduce services and keep the tax rate and subsequent taxpayer burden as it has been this year.

The council chose the latter.

The most significant budget adjustment was one that will complicate plans to build the city corporation yard.

The Council voted to take $240,000 from the corporation yard building fund to balance the general fund.

The yard itself will cost the city from $800,000 to $1.2 million.

The new yard is necessary, City Mgr. Donald Weidner said, because the existing property is needed for expansion of the sewage treatment plant. Where the necessary money will come from, Weidner said, is still unknown.

An additional action, which could pose legal problems for the council, is elimination of $50,000 from the budget in consultant fees for the state-mandated General Plan elements.

The state has set a September deadline for the completion of the elements. Two of the elements, Weidner said, have been completed. What action the state may choose to take against the city if the elements are not completed is uncertain, Weidner said.

However, the city attorney in a letter to the council indicated there could be legal implications.

Weidner said the staff is moving toward completing the elements.

The motion to eliminate the $50,000 consultant fees was approved, 4-1, with only Stan Farber dissenting.

The council, however, did not welcome a persistant motion by Farber to freeze all personnel hiring without City Council authorization.

Farber intended that before any position could be filled, the city manager would be required to seek approval from the council.

The motion died for lack of second.

Councilwoman Janice Fulford called the mayor's suggestion a "strong infringement on the city manager's position," Farber said the intent was to take the problem off the manager's back and "put the burden on us."

Councilman Lumley made the same motion, eliminating fire and police personnel. However, his motion failed, 2-3, with Councilman Sidney Lorvan and Lumley voting "no."

"I don't want to make police and fire a sacred cow," Lumley said. "My motion gives us the perogative and puts the burden right where it belongs — on us."

A second attempt by the mayor to obtain a second on his motion also died.

Appraisers Review Property Values

State appraisers are checking San Mateo County property values to derive a key figure in the computation of state school equalization aid that amounts statewide to $3.5 million a day.

George R. Reilly, member of the State Board of Equalization, said the survey just begun in this county is one of 19 such surveys being conducted this year to bring up to date the findings based on surveys made three years ago.

Owners of properties appraised will be notified of the market value found by the survey and may inspect the appraisal records.

The program, Reilly said, helps to measure the taxable resources of a school district and determine that local schools get their proper share of state school funds. Other things being equal, the state furnishes more aid to school districts with limited taxable resources than to wealthy districts.

An annual finding of each county's average assessment level, expressed as a percentage of market value for all locally assessed taxable property in the county, is based on the board's survey.

This county average is compared to the statewide average. If the county's average conforms substantially, no adjustment is needed.

If the assessed values are far out of line, they will be changed to make the county's average conform with the average for the state.

"Whether an adjustment is made or not, the county average and the statewide average based on the 58 county findings are used in a formula by which $1.3 billion in state funds are being allocated this year among the state's 1,165 school districts," Reilly said. The $1.3 billion is 55 per cent of total state aid to school districts, which now runs to $2.3 billion a year.

This is but one of a dozen uses to which the assessment level percentages are put. Another important use is to determine the extent to which state loans to school districts for building construction are to be repaid.

The countywide average may also be used by a property taxpayer to help him decide whether his assessment is fair when compared to assessments of all other property in the county.

Pacifica Restaurant OKd, Arcade Delayed

Pacifica planning commissioners Monday night approved a use permit to allow operation of a restaurant at the corner of Skyline Boulevard and Manor Drive, but put off a related request for an arcade in the same building.

Commissioners agreed to delay a decision on the arcade request until the Aug. 18 meeting, to allow applicant Louis Kristal an opportunity to return with a more detailed outline of the type of machines he plans to use.

The city presently is without an ordinance that defines an arcade and the staff is working on a draft document for council approval. This factor also entered into the commissioners' decision.

Jack Kristal, brother of the applicant, said, "We're calling it an arcade because we lack a better definition." He said if the commission were given more information the request might not fall into the arcade category.

Deputy City Atty. Hill Galstan said, "The safe course is not to get involved with the arcade this evening." He reminded the commissioners that a use permit runs with the land and granting it to a responsible party won't guarantee that the responsible party will keep the business.

Luis Kristal said there would be no pinball machines, rather electronic devices. He also said he intended to import two special machines from Italy for children. "We do not want a hangout place," he said.

Capt. Bruce Rivers of the police department urged the commissioners to wait until arcades are better defined in the city code.

In other business, the commissioners:

• Approved two variance requests allowing the parking of recreational vehicles on side yards not meeting minimum requirements; one for Stewart Ryder at 1155 Manzanita Drive, and one for Ernest Gill at 1164 Alicante Drive.

• Granted a variance to Andrew Turner to allow construction of a residence at 1241 Springwood Way that does not meet minimum setback requirements.

• Denied the request of Mark Bacchi to build a garage with a bedroom above it onto the front of an existing non-conforming structure at 909 Reina Del Mar.

Federal Grants Announced

Two federal Housing and Urban Development grants to the city of Daly City have been announced by Congressman Leo J. Ryan, D-San Mateo.

A $207,000 Community Block Grant will be used to implement the city's first-year Community Development Plan, which includes a multi-purpose center, concentrated city code enforcement, a neighborhood rehabilitation loan program, a day care center and an expanded community service center.

A $30,000 Comprehensive Planning Assistance grant will go for a new city Department of Community Development, more staffing, general plan revisions.

County Gets Housing Funds

Congressman Leo J. Ryan, D-San Mateo, has announced the issuance of a contract for $1,501,296 to the Housing Authority of the County of San Mateo by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

"The grant, issued under Section 8 of the Housing Assistance Payments Program, covers a total of 650 existing units in San Mateo County," said Ryan.

'CAPTURE' Goal: Fight Crime With Education

By VERA GRAHAM

CAPTURE is reaching out to the hamburger-munching set.

It's reaching out to their moms and dads.

It's seeking out the affluent, the middle-income, the poor, the aged of San Mateo County.

All share a common threat: They are the potential victims of criminals in San Mateo County.

CAPTURE's goal is to show them how to avoid being victimized.

CAPTURE is an attention-getting acronym which stands for "Citizens Participation Through Utilization of Relevant Education."

It sounds complicated and confusing. It isn't. It's a special countywide project using trained people to reach and teach the average citizen how to thwart a criminal' how to use crime prevention or detection methods, how to protect home, property and family; how to avoid the mugger, purse-snatcher, burglar, shoplifter and rapist.

CAPTURE, while public-oriented, works closely with police. Its funds pay for specialized equipment made available to law enforcement agencies countywide.

CAPTURE is a pilot program. It's the first of its kind in the United States. It could be the pacesetter for many others throughout the country.

And because of its unique nature and crime prevention potential, it is currently and has consistently been monitored and audited for its physical and fiscal effectiveness.

CAPTURE has no direct tie with the operations of the Office of Criminal Justice Planning (OCJP), which operates with the California Council on Criminal Justice (CCCJ). That agency recently was blasted by Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. as an over-staffed "pretzel palace" of wasteful expenditures and confused direction.

While CAPTURE gets its funds through the same federal legislation which in 1968 created the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act, it is not channelled through OCJP or CCCJ but through the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) out of "discretionary funding."

In September, 1974, CAPTURE received an allocation of $209,631 to cover an 18-month experimental program to find out if the general public can be educated and stimulated to protect itself against the criminal.

CAPTURE coordinator Ann Marquart, 26, says, "We've made a dent in the problem. We are reaching out to people. To date we've managed to contact more than 5,000 people at local meetings, and from here on our results will show the value and effectiveness of CAPTURE."

She says that when funding ends in December, 1976, every effort will be made to seek additional money to carry the program through to proven success.

CAPTURE's offices are located at 1870 S.Amphlett Blvd., San Mateo.

The hardware expenditure includes a surveillance vehicle of unique nature, a number of security display kits which show how to make windows and doors tougher to force.

There are three portable radios, three silent alarms and a "bird dog," an electronically operated tracking device.

There is equipment geared to night viewing through infra red scope. Also among the hardware are etching tools to identify the burglar's favorite loot — radios, TV sets and other highly portable items.

Add the cost of office furniture and that required to print informative literature, brochures and other publications, plus the cost of sending information to radio, television stations and newspapers and the budget of CAPTURE is laid out for public examination.

Since Governor Brown made his less than complimentary comments on the California Council of Criminal Justice's planning division last month, CAPTURE, which is a separate agent, has received a side benefit.

Scores of letters of commendation have poured in from various law enforcement authorities, individuals, private groups, organizations, PTAs. They are concerned lest CAPTURE be terminated.

It is recognized there has been some underground rumbling and questioning about the program and its effectiveness. This usually comes from those who are remote from CAPTURE's programs and results.

Among the critics are some of the old line law enforcement men. They remain unconvinced that young people can be effective in directing a countywide crime prevention program. Ms. Marquart, the project's coorindator, is 26. But she has an extensive background in law enforcement and she knows how to reach people, as do her staff. That's the whole purpose of CAPTURE — not to capture a criminal, but to capture public attention to make it tougher for the criminal to rib and assault them.

Andrea Tilla, community representative of a fast-food chain in Menlo Park, has written, "After becoming involved and attending a CAPTURE meeting, . . . I can attest to its value and the value of the work of its representatives in regard to our project and other crime prevention projects in our area." The outlet is sponsoring a contest promoting CAPTURE.

The contest is a spinoff, explains Ms.Marquart, of the Meno-Atherton Crime Prevention Unit, when it launched the Junior Crime Prevention Officer Program in the elementary schools of East Menlo Park.

The McDonald contest hopefully will be particularly effective during summer vacation. Crime never takes a vacation, adds Ms. Marquart and Chief Vern Coppock. Richard Hutton and Kenneth Wells of the Menlo Park-Atherton Crime Prevention Unit will be coordinating the contest with CAPTURE and McDonald's.

The Downtown San Mateo Kiwanis Club also has given a boost to CAPTURE in a letter from Secretary Leonard A. Glover.

And there are individual letters of appreciation. There's one from Director Kathy Elkins of San Mateo Women Against Rape.

Betty Raff, active in the Crestmoor High School PTA, reports as a member of the Citizen's Advisory Board, representing San Bruno, her group got the YWCA interested in a community service program of Women's Crime Awareness. Home Alert (burglary prevention) groups are going to be started as well as Block Parent programs.

Ms. Raff adds, ". . . I see San Bruno citizens' growing concern for their neighbor's welfare. It's a warm feeling . . ." And she adds, "I've had a chance to bring Crime Awareness to my fellow workers at Mills Hospital where I am one of the night crew and must walk in the dark from my car to the entrance. We have developed a buddy system to prevent possibly dangerous situations."

Again there's Mrs. Clinton Murphy who tells about hearing of CAPTURE's efforts at a PTA meeting in South San Francisco. A resultant high attendance at a meeting stimulated by a CAPTURE program is speeding the crime awareness and prevention word through the community.

A Fairmont district homeowner in Pacific mimeographed several dozen flyers distributing them in his area, telling of CAPTURE's program and empphasizing security.

He reports the Fairmont Improvement Association held a meeting and . . . "showed movies of rip-offs, of how vandals operate, of what to do if a strange (and suspicious) person shows up in your neighborhood. We were told how to keep an eye out for strangers and strange actions . . . not by opening wide the draperies or turning on bright lights — but by watching the way you do when a new person moves in or your neighbors are having a fight. (I am kidding here)," adds the writer who asked not to be identified.

He does emphasize . . . "There's a greater feeling of neighborly friendliness in our area since we've started our Home Alert program."

Police officials from Hillsborough to Brisbane speak highly of the program, urge its continuance, are opposed to the program's elimination.

Fifth Hearing on Mountain

Opponents Denounce Visitacion Proposals

By FRANK LaPIERRE

It was the opposition's turn Wednesday before the San Mateo County Planning Commission as the fifth in a series of hearings on proposed San Bruno Mountain development got underway.

In the four previous hearings on the controversial issue, supporters of the development presented their views.

The hearing, held at the Daly City War Memorial Building, was packed with an estimated 500 persons, mostly opponents of Visitacion Associate's plan to build a community of some 18,000 residents in the so-called "Saddle Area" of the undeveloped mountain.

It was the largest turnout to date.

Mimi Whitney, co-chairperson of the Save San Bruno Mountain group led the way for several "expert" speakers opposing the mountain development.

Ms. Whitney charged the developer and supporters of the project with trying to "cloud the issues" and make the environmentalist group appear to be "no growthers."

"We are not no-growthers," Ms. Whitney said. "We support the need for housing, commercial and office space. The real issue is what is the right location for growth and what is the right location for badly needed open space in the North County."

She said San Bruno Mountain "because of its unique features," is more suitable for open space.

She charged the proposed project would not meet the housing problems of the county. "Instead it will compound them," she said.

Visitacion Associates claims the development would create some 10,000 new jobs, as VA General Manager Robert Follett earlier told the commission, is untrue, she said.

"The project will create few, if any, new jobs for San Mateo County residents," Ms. Whitney said.

Further, the proposed development would cost more than buying the entire mountain for a park site, she said.

"The real housing shortage in the county is for minorities, middle, moderate and low income families with children. These families who are really suffering from the housing shortage, will not be able to consider living in (the development). It's simply too expensive," she said.

Supporting Ms. Whitney's stand on housing was Dr. Chester Hartman, a San Francisco-based housing consultant.

Hartman said the type housing proposed by Visitacion Associates "is out of reach of most . . . and does not meet the needs of the present housing market."

"Jobs are created by demand," Ms. Whitney said. "And there is only so much demand for office and commercial space in the county."

She said there already is enough potential and space in the county to meet any demand the economy is likely to generate.

"An enormous quantity of office space has been planned in the county, and enough land has been set aside for industrial parks to last beyond the end of the century," she said.

If the housing project is not built on the mountain, it will be built elsewhere, Ms. Whitney ventured.

MIMI WHITNEY

"The issue is not whether to have development — we will have development," she said.

Where this development goes is the important question facing the commission, Ms. Whitney said.

Also making a presentation at the hearing was Robert J. Lloyd, superintendent of the Brisbane School District.

Lloyd said that while his district did not take a stand one way or the other on the development, he did want to emphasize that the "school problems created by the development will be catastrophic unless there is mitigating action taken to preclude such an eventuality."

The superintendent disagreed with earlier statements made by Follett that solution to any school problem created by the development is a "simple matter of implementation."

"We perceive them to be severe and significant," Lloyd said.

County Advisory Committees

Can Three Do Work of Eight?

A feasibility study to determine if three boards could more effectively handle assistance to the County Board of Supervisors on health and welfare matters than is currently being done by eight committees has been authorized by the board.

The study was recommended by the County Board of Health and Welfare and endorsed by County Health and Welfare Director Dr. George Pickett.

In a message to the Board of Supervisors Tuesday, Dr. Joseph LaDou, chairman of the Board of Health and Welfare, stated that "for some time it has been apparent that the eight health and welfare related advisory bodies in San Mateo County do not provide the kind of effective assistance to the department and to your board that would materially assist you and the department in policy setting and decision-making."

LaDou said that it is proposed that a task force be developed by the Board of Health and Welfare to undertake the three-month study to determine if three 15-member advisory boards could prove more effective than the eight boards.

Supervisor John M. Ward expressed concerns over creating of a "new structure" and of the possibility of losing sight of specific special interests in a broader organization.

Mrs. Jan Elliott, president of the League of Women Voters of Central San Mateo County, urged that there be broad representation from throughout the county on the body making the study.

LaDou noted that the County Grand Jury has also recommended a task force to look into the structure and makeup of all the advisory bodies related to the Department of Health and Welfare.

He said that in their present form, the advisory boards are handicapped by lack of geographic balance, poor consumer representation and no municipal representation at a time when the larger cities are increasingly becoming involved in allocations of resources in the health and social service fields.

LaDou suggested that a model designed for discussion purposes proposes:

- A Public Health Advisory Council to review all public health and public medical care programs operated by the department.
- A Mental Health Advisory Council to review all mental health and related services operated by the county.
- A Public Welfare Advisory Council to review all social welfare programs operated by the county.

Each of the advisory councils would report to a 15-member San Mateo County Board of Health and Welfare appointed by the Board of Supervisors and by the three advisory councils.

LaDou noted that a change in the County Charter, which currently designates a seven-member Board of Health and Welfare, would be necessary to effect the larger membership.

The board approved the feasibility study, indicating it does not want consideration of a proposed change to be necessarily restricted to three larger committees.

SSF Moves to Revoke El Rancho Permit

South San Francisco Planning commissioners Tuesday night voted to invoke use permit revocation procedures against the El Rancho Drive-In Theater.

Commissioners were frustrated in attempts to obtain compliance with earlier established conditions by the firm's representative, Daly City attorney Paul Hupf.

"We won't accept the (city) staff's dictation as to what they think is reasonable (conditions)," said Hupf about a maintenance and clearance of drainage ditches condition that had been agreed to some 15 months ago.

"One thing that bugs this commission," said Vice Chairman Wesley Slade, "is that there were no questions about reasonableness when the original condition was placed."

Commenting on the advocacy manner in which Hupf was presenting his case, Slade noted that "this is not a court of law."

"If you revoke the use permit, that's where it's going to be," said Hupf, who repeatedly contended that his client had never agreed to the drainage condition even though it was part of the record.

Commissioners Joe Mathewson and Roberta Teglia both become obviously irritated at Hupf's seeming unreasonable stance. The staff had recommended no action on the revocation, opting instead to set up a timetable for the applicatnt to meet the conditions.

"I see we're getting nowhere talking to Mr. Hupf," said Matthewson. "His plea seems to be total incompetency. There was no problem as long as the second screen could be built."

The use permit was granted initially in April, 1974, allowing construction of a second screen as long as specific conditions be met. Four of those conditions remain to be fulfilled.

"The staff seems to have a certain amount of faith in your sincerity (to complete the conditions)" said Mrs. Teglia. "I have less."

She said a slope at the site is sliding. "Your own irrigation system is washing away the planting," she said. "Where will we be after one rain?"

Mrs. Teglia contended a drainage basin was filling up with dirt coming from the theater grounds. Hupf was not prepared to agree it was his client's dirt. He said his client would fix the slope, but reiterated that they would not maintain the drainage ditches.

"We will assume the responsibility that belongs to us without question," said Hupf. "The question is whether they are reasonable requirements." He said his client has spent at least $10,000 to improve the slope.

Zoning Administrator Bill Costanzo said "the applicant has totally resisted" the requirement for four months. "It is to their best interest to do it," said Costanzo.

"Their attack to the problem has been piecemeal, to do whatever is needed to satisfy the Planning Commission," said Costanzo. "They're willing to do what's necessary if we take them by the hand."

Commissioner Mathewson moved to revoke the permit and Mrs. Teglia seconded the motion. Slade voted in favor and Commissioner Nello Lazzari, who was quiet during the entire discussion, voted against it. Commissioner Mario Raffaelli, who served his last meeting as a commissioner, abstained. Commissioner Eugene Mullin and Chairman Homer Hale were absent.

Petition Vowed on Gas Price Posting

Millbrae Mayor Barney Spera vowed Tuesday night he would wage a door-to-door campaign for signatures to place an initiative on the March ballot calling for mandatory posting of gasoline prices.

The mayor's promise came moments after the City Council, 3-2, opposed Spera's suggestion that the council authorize the issue be placed before the city voters. Only Councilman Bernard Esser supported Spera.

May 27 the council, by a 3-1 vote, Spera dissenting (Esser was not present at that meeting) opposed a resolution that would have set a public hearing to discuss a proposed amendment to the Millbrae sign ordinance. The amendment would have allowed an additional sign for posting of gas prices for service station dealers.

Undaunted by the council action, Spera brought the issue up at the July 8 council meeting. At that time he requested that Councilmen Bill Glang, Art Lepore and Tullio Bertini, reconsider their opposition to gas price posting and support a resolution mandating that dealers display their price of gasoline to the public.

All three councilmen flatly refused to alter their positions.

In yet another effort to get council backing of what now has become his adamant desire to force gas price posting, the mayor Tuesday night called for the issue to be placed on the ballot.

"I am asking the council to vote to place the issue on the ballot, and if it is not the wish of the council to do so, I am prepared to organize a citizens committee to circulate a petition to put an initiative on the ballot," Spera said.

"It's not that big of an issue," commented Councilman Bertini. "Most businesses are not required to post their prices, so why service stations? I don't see why we have to become involved in bureaucratic action that would be hard to enforce."

The dealers are going to be working with the government to conserve fuel, Councilman Lepore told Spera.

"People should have the right to know what they are going to be paying for gas," the mayor replied.

"We are not here to control the self-interest of the consumer," Lepore countered. "Let's let them (dealers) set their own pace of competition."

Councilman Glang remarked: "This (mandatory price posting) is discriminatory against service stations. Happy walking, looking for citizens to sign petitions," he told the mayor.

Spera said he would start his petition campaign late next month.

City Atty. Frank Gullio said signatures of 10 per cent of the registered voters would be necessary to qualify the initiative for the March ballot.

Mayor Attacks Pay Raise

A salary raise for Millbrae's first and only city treasurer came under attack by Mayor Barney Spera last week.

The mayor told the city council he could not support a salary boost for a part-time city official, that "now makes more than some full-time employes."

The city staff had requested council authorization of a resolution setting City Treasurer Ed Rogers' salary at $10,968.

"I just can't support that," said Spera. "We (councilmen) are entitled to a cost of living raise like the treasurer is, but every year we turn it down, because we don't think it's right to accept it. Then we turn around every year and grant an increase for the treasurer.

"I just can't see it," the mayor said.

Councilman Art Lepore supported Spera, but the salary resolution was authorized after Councilmen Bill Glang, Bernard Esser and Tullio Bertini voted for the wage increase.

After the meeting, Spera called the raise unjustified, especially since "we (the councilmen) don't even know how many hours the treasurer puts in for the city."

The mayor said, "The city doesn't even need a treasurer. "We (the council) can do the work."

Taxpayers Plan Joint Meeting

The North San Mateo County Taxpayers Association will meet in the next two weeks with six other Northern California taxpayers associations to discuss the possibility of campaigning for property tax referendum.

NSNCTA Chairman Les Kelting said he has contacted presidents of taxpayers associations in Sonoma county, Santa Cruz, Santa Clara, and Monterey and San Mateo and all agreed to a joint taxpayers meeting.

Kelting said taxpayers at the meeting will discuss organizing a statewise campaign "to get a law on the books that will correct the inequitable property tax laws." Kelting said the groups will examine closely one initiative that already has been formed by the Santa Cruz Taxpayers Association.

No date has as yet been set for the meeting.

According to Kelting, the Santa Cruz initiative, called STOP, proposes to freeze assessments and the tax rate at the 1974 level provided property owners are satisfied with the assessments at that time; sets the tax rate for retired persons according to their income, and provides that homeowners that repair or beautify their property are not reassessed.

Kelting said that over the next week he will work to combine the San Mateo and North San Mateo County Taxpayers Association into one group, that can represent this county at the joint-county meeting.

56 Signers – all Americans – all pioneers – all rebels in their day – all determined to free their fledging country from the tyranny of England's King and Parliament.

" - - - - - - we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor." The closing words of the Declaration of Independence. How many of us would be so daring, so fool-hardy today?

So, in these Bicentennial Years, let's all break out the flag. Fly it high. Fly it proudly. Fly it to show our respect for the memory of those great 56 men who dared to defy one of the strongest powers on earth so that America might be born and grow into the greatest and most generous country in the world.

We offer at cost as a Bicentennial Public Service a complete home flag kit – a 3 x 5-foot double-stitched heavy cotton flag – a 6-foot jointed 2-piece staff with top ornament – a heavy mounting bracket with three screws – all in a sturdy 2-piece storage carton with full color flag history folder. Sports Fans Blast Announcer

We hate to belabor a point, but on the other hand, why not, when one's intelligence is continually insulted and assaulted.

Or, to put it another way, does anybody besides us realize what a terrible baseball announcer Art Eckman is?

As we noted last year, he's a good-looking, clean-cut young fellow, and undoubtedly a nice man. He has a fine voice and he's articulate, but he doesn't know a damned thing about baseball and is evidently too lazy or self-satisfied to study it.

He's verbally sloppy ("And there's a drive to left field . . ." and then we have to wait to hear if the pitcher is winding up or taking his hitch to see if the "drive" was a single, a double, or, indeed, caught); thinks slowly ("Here comes . . . to the plate. He's got two for six, for a .333 batting average . . . check that, it's an even .300."); is careless ("And Ed Goodson, what kind of a pitch did you hit for that double in the sixth inning?" "Art, that was Gary Thomasson who hit that double."); has no sense of history of the game ("As far as we know, Ron Reed is the only player in the majors aside from Dave DeBusschere to have also played in the NBA." and ordinary fans immediately also think of Chuck Connors, Gene Conley and Frankie Baumholtz); hates to admit mistakes (When listeners phone in and tell him about Conley, et al, he remarks, "Oh course, we were going to mention Conley, and what we meant was that Reed, DeBusschere and Conley were the only major league Pitchers to have also played in the NBA); and he doesn't do his homework (like the day he continually referred to the Chicago Cub third baseman as "Matlack," even though his name is Madlock and "Matlack" pitches for the Mets.)

Now that he's taken over Bill Thompson's job as KSFO sports director, it would be nice if Thompson could take Eckman's place on the play-by-play and Eckman could retire to reading sports news off the wires. We are confident that he reads well.

Of course, what we mentioned specifically above have just been some of the outstanding examples of Eckman's ineptitude. To mention them all would require a volume, because they are not isolated, but on-going — like every inning.

Oh, we mustn't leave Al Michaels out of this critique. Why let Eckman dangle in the wind by himself? Like Eckman, Michaels has a good voice, is articulate and is a competent announcer, and unlike Eckman, he knows the game of baseball. But frankly, Michaels, of late, has been getting on our nerves. He, along with Eckman, talks too much. He's a wealth of information, but unfortunately, much of it has nothing to do with what we listen to him for — to report what's happening on that field. He feels he must fill all air time with chatter, usually little anecdotes, and especially statistics. If you're an avid fan, you know most of the stuff he tells you, or could look it up if you really were that interested. If you're just a casual fan tuning in to see how the locals are doing, you really don't care about all of the numerology, stories, and technicalities Michaels and Eckman provide.

Michaels and Eckman recently reached the height of their particular brand of absurdity when they took up air time to discuss the fate of the Seals and the Yerba Buena project arena They said a lot of nasty things about politicians and at one point Eckman even went so far as to strongly hint at governmental corruption, which could be actionable if anybody in San Francisco government wanted to make a case. Actually, we agreed with much of what Michaels and Eckman contended, and they may have been right in all of their inuendos and direct charges, but the point is, who really gives a damn what two play-by-play radio announcers think of such things? As a matter of fact, what in hell are they doing discussing hockey in the middle of a baseball game? And what, really, do they know that working city hall and sports reporters for the local dailies don't know better?

We suppose what we resent most in such discussions by Michaels and d Eckman is the fact that they've been in the Bay Area less than two years and think that because they know the names of two or three good restaurants they know all of the complexities of Bay Area politics and mores and tastes. For example, it's probably never occurred to them that a lot of people in San Francisco really don't care if the city has a hockey team.

Perhaps we're wrong. We don't know. We don't know and we were born and raised in San Francisco and know the names of at least six good restaurants. We would just rather listen to baseball radiocasts to find out who did what when and how and what the score is.

Oh, where are you, Russ Hodges and Lon Simmons, and others of your ilk who made baseball broadcasts fun to listen to because you never took yourselves seriously.

MISCELANY — Some unusual and perhaps surprising Giants' pitching statistics: Jim Barr is leader in fewest hits allowed per full game, with 7.69, but Pete Falcone is barely behind, 7.70. Mike Caldwell, not Barr, is most stingy with walks, at only 1.99 per game. Barr allows 2.45.

Not John Monefusco, but Ed Halicki, is the best strikeout pitcher on the staff. Halicki averages 8.1, Montefusco, 7.0. Halicki also has the best strikeout-to-walk ratio, by far, with 2.97 K's to every man he passes. Montefusco is next best at 2-1. Charley Williams issues the most walks per nine innings — 6.25.

As we write this, Gary Lavelle is the only relief pitcher with more than one save.

We're still convinced that the Giants would have been in at least nominal contention for the divisional title if not for that sudden series of injuries in May, the worst of which, of course, was the one to Gary Matthews, which cost him six weeks. Ironically, the Giants were healthy before that devastating week or two period, and have been healthy since. Taken as a group and spread evenly over the season, the Giants' injury list — again, aside from the Matthews incident — wouldn't have been worse than any other big league team in regard to "normal" injury rates. And, of course, there's always the question of what a robust John D'Aquisto would have meant to the pitching staff.

Matthews' absence, of course, hurt the Giant offense against left-handed pitchers, but the Giants wouldn't have been nearly so bad off if their regular switch hitters, Steve Ontiveros and Derrel Thomas, had been able to hit right-handed. At the rate they've done that this season (both well below the .200 mark, while well above the .300 mark as lefties), it makes one wonder if they might not be better off hitting southpaw against all pitching. What would they have to lose?

DO YOU REALIZE that, besides everything else, the Reds lead the NL in stolen bases — easily?

Here's something for you statistics-historical nuts. Has there ever been another time in baseball history when the major leagues have been able to boast of three consistent .300 hitting catchers? Count 'em. Manny Sanguillan, Ted Simmons and Thurmond Munson . . . and then throw in Johnny Bench, who does nothing else but catch, throw, hit homers, drive runs in, and play three other positions, and this may be an era for catchers that has seldom been equalized.

And finally, for you trivia buffs, not only does the NL boast the only three players in the majors whose last name begins with the letter "Z", but the Cubs own two of them all by themselves — pitchers Oscar Zamora and Jeff Zahn. The other "Z" is Pittsburgh's left-fielder, Richie Zisk

Eventual winner Richard Shirey leads pack into tight SPIR bend Sunday.

Four Wins for Locals

Tight SPIR Formula Battle

By CHRISTOPHER STAVE

It was a tight bend, a hairpin really, that came up quickly after a long straightaway, and the packs of Formula Fords had to squeeze quickly from four abreast to single file.

At least, they should have. It didn't always work out that way Sunday at Sears Point International Raceway in Sonoma.

Many of the best FF pilots on the West Coast were angling for $5,000 in prize money, and did not give ground to one another easily.

One result was that the lead group of five played musical cars, drafting and switching places; a large blanket could have covered the bunch.

Another result was that six errant machines wound up parked on that bend alone. In one three-car smashup, a red MRE piloted by former national champion Bob Earl of Mt. View was struck in the side. It took several minutes to extract Earl, who was released from the hospital later in the afternoon with a relatively clean bill of health.

Richard Shirey of Huntington Beach made his last pass stand, driving his ADF Mk 2 to a half-length win over Marty Loft of Olympia, Washington in a Crossle.

A similar program is scheduled for mid-August at SPIR.

There were four San Mateo County winners in the SCCA regional championship races that filled out the bill.

Ted Gruner of Foster City survived some body contact and an ensuing protest to win the Showroom Stock Sedan class in his Mazda 808. It was his first win in the car after six straight second place finishes.

Gruner hung on the lead Opel's tail, applying pressure until the latter went wide onto the grass exiting turn four, a sharp downhill righthander. Gruner took the lead for good.

The Opel pilot protested an earlier incident, which produced some body contact at the hairpin. The stewards decided in favor of Gruner. "I can't believe it," said Gruner afterwards. "Some of the drivers in this class are such crybabies. After all, these are race cars out here."

Ed O'Sullivan of Pacifica, who's fighting Harry Stewart of Reno for a regional championship in the B Sedan class, wound up with an easy win. He beat Stewart at the start and pulled away; Stewart eventually broke.

"Stewart had qualified at under two minutes for the first time," said O'Sullivan. "But I ran 2:00 this morning, and I figured that would be enough to hold him off, to put pressure on him. I had to beat him at the start — and I did, before we got to turn two. The rest was really pretty easy."

Dave Bennett of Redwood City drove his Genie-Datsun to first place in the C Sports Racing class.

And John Briggs of Woodside, whose Lola T332-Chevrolet was easily the fastest machine on the premises, ran away and hid from the Formula A, B and C cars. It was strictly no contest; Briggs was lapping at least five seconds faster than everyone else.

One driver flipped end-over-end at the entry to turn four, and spent a couple of nervous minutes upside down on the track.

"He was in the middle," said Ross Hansel of Belmont, who was driving an Eagle-Chevrolet in the same race, "and there was debris on the left. There was a small open space to the right. One car took that, and I had to go through the debris.

"The turn marshals went crazy. And I really felt sorry for that poor guy in the car — lying there upside down with wheels whizzing by on either side of his head."

DC Adult Softball Action

In the first two weeks of the Daly City Recreation Divisions Adult Softball, there was much action.

In the B League, Eastern, Hidalgo's Auto Body laid claim to an 11 to 1 win over All-State. Russ Farmer had 2 homers for the winners.

Serra Stereo pacified the Bull by a final score of 7 to 2 as Dennis Dorn enjoyed a perfect 2 for 2 evening at the plate.

Standard Brands burned the Hillside Gang 26-5 as Terry Daily and Ron Mitchell each hit 2 homers apiece.

In the B League, Southern, the B of A Rookies put the lid on Canco and claimed a close 5 to 4 win.

Canine Protection put the bite on the National Distillers by a 5-0 count. Mike Klein went 2 for 3 with 2 rbi's.

The B League, North, featured the Spinners 2 to 1 victory over the Hustlers in nine innings.

Have-a-touch topped Lawson Roofing 8 to 1 behind homers by Mel Lintz and Joe Colorado.

The Regal Selects crushed M.C.P. 34 to 2, Nestles defeated the Sluggin Fools 15 to 1 and the Good Time Boys enjoyed an 11 to 1 win over the Westlakers.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD ★ JOHNSON

Lehr's Greenhouse Host to Celebrities

Many of the show-biz celebrities staying at the Canterbury Hotel in San Francisco dine in the flower-filled Lehr's Greenhouse garden restaurant, right next door. The Manhattan Transfer, Madrid's famed radio and TV orchestra, and popular Rudy Vallee are among the entertainment notables seen dining recently at Lehr's Greenhouse. . . . If you want fresh seafood for a home-cooked meal, stop by Vince's Fish Depot, located a few steps from Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant, on your next shopping tour. You'll find the fish of the sea (in season) to please every appetite. . . . Local musician Grant Ewald is the leader of Apocalypse, the band appearing nightly, Wednesday through Saturday, in the Bayhill Lounge, San Bruno. This group drew so many fans that the club's dance floor had to be enlarged. . . . Nick Gust, the dean of Rockaway Beach, has the answer to any dine-out situation. When it comes to a menu selection, his Moonraker restaurant is a continental cuisine favorite. Captain Charles restaurant is a seafood specialty house, and Nick's restaurant and lounge is a combination of good dining (breakfast, lunch and dinner), entertainment and dancing. Banquet facilities are also available. Visit all three places for cocktails and enjoy the Gust hospitality. . . . Phil Lehr maintains an atmosphere of relaxed elegance in the Wellington Room of his Steakery in downtown San Francisco. The food is superb and the service is flawless — but there is nothing stuffy or pretentious about it. Many of the art treasures that decorate the room came from famous old San Francisco mansions. . . . Much has been written about the $3.95 early evening specials featured at the Shirt Tail in Palo Alto. But don't overlook the moderately-priced menu fare served daily at Adrian Stickney's Hick'ry Houses. Barbecue meats are a menu mainstay at all the Hick'ry House locations. The spare ribs, served with their famed barbecue sauce, being a big favorite. Pete Braillier, the racing tycoon who also owns a string of pizza parlors, was a recent visitor to Enrico Romano's Rockaway Beach restaurant. The topics of conversation, of course, included the pizza business and race cars. These "kids" are "hotrod happy" and driving champs in their own right. . . . Besides specializing in hospitality, Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City is an award-winning restaurant for its outstanding service and delectable cuisine. Prime beef, seafood and fowl are choice menu suggestions. . . . Nevada Tours has enjoyed a booming business during the month of July, and many of their "drive-up" customers are repeats. The Lake Tahoe area is in full sunshine bloom, and the slot machines are beating a steady jackpot tune. Now is the time to make those reservations. . . . Dave Jazinsky is offering quite a money-saving bargain this weekend at Fling's Drive-In (both the San Mateo and Burlingame locations). On Friday, Saturday and Sunday (Aug. 1, 2 and 3) just one dollar buys five of Fling's famous hamburgers. . . . The latest promotion at Tanforan Park's Garden Restaurants is a winner! Every Wednesday night, each of the nine Garden Restaurants offers a special dinner for only $1.49. And speaking of another winner, be sure to enter the contest at Tanforan Park, as the winner walks away with $300 worth of school clothes. Fill out the coupon (see today's "Bright Lights") and deposit it in one of the boxes placed throughout the Garden Restaurant complex in San Bruno.

Nostalgic Music Review Scheduled in Daly City

A nostalgic musical review is now in rehearsal as a portion of the Summer Music Theatre, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department.

"Puttin' on the Ritz" will be composed of 30's and 40's musical numbers by composers such as Gershwin, Porter, Rodgers and Coward.

"Tea for Two," "Get Happy" and "Zip" will be among the songs which will be featured along with ballards and up tempo selections. Excerpts from "Oh Coward" also will be presented.

Performance is at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Fraternal Order of Eagle Hall, 3344 San Jose Ave., Daly City.

Tickets are $2 a person or $3 a couple.

Ticket sales will benefit the upcoming Summer Music Theatre stage production of "Babes in Arms."

In cooperation with the Rodgers and Hammerstein Library, "Babes" is scheduled for Aug. 6, 7, 8 and 9 in the Westmoor High School Little Theatre at 8 p.m. each evening.

Tickets for both events may be purchased at the Daly City Recreation Department, 134 Hillside Blvd., or at the door.

The area is being cleared to permit future construction of Boarding Areas H & I, a part of the North Terminal Complex.

The high speed taxiway construction project will increase the operational efficiency of Runway 28R and also provides for the installation of centerline taxiway guidance lights.

Airport Observing Area Improvement

The Airports Commission has awarded a contract to Asphalt Paving Company, 500 Bragato Road, Belmont, to develop a public observation area adjacent to the south end of Runway 1R at San Francisco International Airport, Airports Director William J. Dwyer has announced.

At $66,288.50, Asphalt Paving was the lowest bidder in the project to improve the existing area adjacent to the south end of Runway 1R near Millbrae Avenue now being used by families to observe air operations.

Immediately within the airport boundary near the junction of Millbrae Avenue and Old Bayshore Boulevard, this presently unimproved area is regularly used by the public to watch arriving and departing aircraft.

"Improvements to the area include paving 28,000 square feet to accommodate approximately 60 parked vehicles," the airports director said.

"Installation of a highway type metal guard railing in front of the existing drainage canal, construction of entrances and exits, landscaping, improved drainage and protective fencing will complete the project," Dwyer said.

"The project is undertaken to improve a public observation area, to enhance the appearance of the area and to provide for public use and enjoyment," he said.

In other actions, the Airports Commission approved the plans and specifications and authorized bid calls for contracts to demolish cargo buildings 3, 4 and 4 annex, and also to provide a high speed exit taxiway for Airport Runway 28R.

The cargo building demolition project consists of demolishing the structures, realigning security fencing, capping utilities and modifying the lighting around the cleared area.

SHOPPERS' REPORT

MR. & MRS. KRAHNKE SAVED $10.09 AT LUCKY

ACTUAL SHOPPING TEST

Mr. and Mrs. Krahnke were asked to compare Lucky's prices with another supermarket in their area. They shopped at Lucky with a list Mrs. Krahnke had prepared. The items purchased were of her own, Lucky did not tell them what to buy . . . only to try and duplicate what they had purchased at Lucky. The amounts spent were added up and the Krahnke's discovered their food costs were lower at Lucky!

Porn Movie House Lease Signed

By RICK SULLIVAN

The Mitchell Brothers, San Francisco producers of hard core pornography, have signed a five-year lease to open the former El Camino Theater at the entrance to downtown San Bruno.

The lease was signed last week with United Artists, owners of the theater, culminating almost a year of negotiations.

According to Bill Boyer, spokesman for the Mitchell Brothers, the producers will begin renovation of the theater to bring it up to code standards and start "going through all the proper channels in the city" to secure an operating permit within a month.

Boyer said the company hopes to open the theater in late October or early November and "probably" will premier its newest film, "Sodom and Gomorrah."

When opened, the pornographic theater will be the only one of its kind in North San Mateo County. There are currently two other pornographic theaters in the country — the Palm Theater in San Mateo and the Lily theater in unincorporated Redwood City.

According to Jim Mitchell, the El Camino Theater will be a "first-run house," screening both Hollywood first-run premier films and "quality, first class" X-rated films.

"Our object is to make money," Boyer said. "Whichever kind of film, straight or X-rated, sells the best we will regularly show."

The Mitchell Brothers have produced such film as "Behind the Green Door" and "The Resurrection of Eve."

The brothers already lease six theaters in California from United Artists including one in San Francisco and two in Hayward.

Jim Mitchell was quoted last morning as saying he believed San Bruno would be a "very good location" to show blue movies "because it is close to the airport and there's a lot of people in the area."

Although according to Assistant City Planner Kay Ransom, no permit application has as yet been filed in the city, city councilmen have expressed in public meetings their opposition to opening of a pornographic theater in the city.

At the City Council meeting, Councilman Gary Mondfrans said, "I have discovered at least seven hurdles they (the Mitchell Brothers) would have to clear before they could open that theater."

City Atty. Joe Galligan said last month he believed it would be difficult for any company to open the theater.

Galligan said the theater never has conformed to the Central Business District zoning ordinance, which stipulates that all businesses must be of a retail nature. The theater, at the time the ordinance was passed, was not considered of a retail nature, but since it was in operation before the law was passed, it was allowed a nonconforming use permit.

Galligan, says now, however, since the theater has not been in operation in the last 16 months, it can no longer operate as a theater.

Meanwhile letter from concerned city residents have been pouring into City Hall, all of them opposing opening a pornographic theater on San Mateo Avenue.

One letter from Maureen Glew told Mayor John Bernard, "I want you to know you have our entire family's backing in keeping that trash out of San Bruno."

Barnard replied: "I am in complete sympathy with your views on this matter. Every effort will be made to keep our community a fine place in which to live."

Letters also have been received from the Church of Christ of Latter-day Saints in San Bruno, Dora Whetham, Mildred and Thomas Byrne, Margaret Shypertt, Charles Cohn, Mrs. Ronald R. Romaine, Stanley Wilson and from Albertina Toschi who was moved to comment: "The half million dollars (spent) to beautify the main thoroughfare of this town (San Mateo Avenue) will be a total waste (if the theater is opened) You might just as well have burned the money."

Boyer said the Mitchell Brothers will attempt to "blend the moviehouse into the community" with other entertainment offered, and provides what he called "another choice" of entertainment.

Boyer said the company has a policy of not trusting its product on the public by "advertising blatantly." "We advertise discreetly in the limits of good taste," he said.

Hayward Police Chief Clause Marchand substantiates that claim. He said no picture posters are in advertising display cases at the two theaters the Mitchell Brothers own in that city. The chief also said the city has experienced no police problems in and around the theaters, since the theater oppend two years ago.

GOLF WEEK

Mayor Victor Kyriakis of Daly City signs a proclamation designating the week of August 10 as Junior Golf Week. Witnessing this are Charles Lewkowitz, president, Daly City Host Lions Club; MacRobert Stewart, former Daly City mayor and former president of the Lions Club; Pat Wolfrom; Jim Wolfrom; and George Brenk, president, Cypress Hills Men's Club. The Wolfrom brothers of Daly City are entered in the Cypress Hills Junior Golf Tournament.

Junior Golf Tourney Slated

The Cypress Hills Junior Golf Championship for youth under the age of 18 gets off to another start this year.

The tournament, which is co-sponsored by the Daly City Host Lions Club and the Cypress Hills Mens Club, will be played at the Cypress Hills Golf Course in Colma August 14 and 15. This year Marty Giannini, Pacifica, the defending champion, will defend his title.

This is the ninth year that the Cypress Hills Golf Course Management has cooperated with the Daly City Host Lions and the Cypress Hills Mens Club to sponsor the event.

Youngsters age 12-17 will play 36 holes and those who are 11 and under will play 18 holes (9 each day). Entry blanks may be obtained at the Cypress Hills Pro Shop or by writing to Dr. Fred Williams, tournament chairman, 3150 Dublin Drive, South San Francisco, Calif., 94080.

Ever since the co-sponsored tournament started in 1966 it has grown so much so that a limit has been placed on the number of entrants that may participate.

Dr. Williams says, "This is always a lot of fun for the youngsters and it is also an opportunity to gain a great deal of experience in playing tournament golf."

Chamber Member Is Participant in Institute

Valli Slate, executive vice president of the Millbrae Chamber of Commerce recently completed a week's Institute for Organization Management at the University of Santa Clara.

More than 260 voluntary organization executives from 22 states and the District of Columbia participated in the personal development program.

The Santa Clara Institute is one of six, annual, one-week sessions sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States at leading universities throughout the country.

During the five-day session, participants spend 27 classroom hours in the Institute course of study, which is designed to assist voluntary organization executives in improving the knowledge and skills they need to upgrade the effectiveness of their organizations.

The Institute curriculum includes structure as well as contempoary issues such as communication and interpersonal processes and environmental concerns.

Each participant may attend progressive levels of the program throughout his professional career.

San Pedro Valley Park Exists Only on Paper

San Pedro Valley County Park in Pacifica has existed only on paper since 1967.

The Pacifica Park and Recreation Commission held a study session recently to further discuss what should be done with the 1,000 acres of untouched land.

Commissioner Norm Milsner showed slides of the beautiful green countryside, with its grassy fields, wild flowers, trees and stream.

But Milsner's last slide showed a dilapidated and rusting car, turned forlornly on its side, that seemed to transform the serene countryside into a scrap metal graveyard.

"This shows why we need a park there," said Milsner.

Plans are to create a "low intensity use" park, keeping vehicle traffic at a minimum. The park will mainly be used for picnicking, lounging, informal sports activities, hiking, riding and nature study. It also will house a day camp for children. Picnic tables, fireplaces, trash containers, restrooms and bike racks will be provided.

The park entrance will be on Linda Mar Boulevard, next to St. Peter's Church.

Construction and landscaping are expected to cost about $1,250,000. One large expense may be irrigating 12 acres of turf in the picnic and recreation areas. If water can't be brought in from existing supplies, a water tank — costing about $100,000 — will have to be built.

Federal funds have been allocated and county taxes will be put to use to finance the park.

Ruth Paige of Keep Pacifica Scenic had some objections to the park plans. She was particularly displeased, she said, about an asphalt road that might traverse the park.

"Once they put the road in, that's it," Ms. Paige said. "They've got to go the rest of the way. The cars will be taking the place of where the people walk."

She also said that construction of an asphalt road will pollute the stream and endanger the fish.

She suggested that a gravel road, wide enough to accommodate only one car, be built instead.

There is already a small unpaved road crossing the park site.

Milsner said there might be an access road to the day camp in case of emergency.

"There is not a single inch of this relatively level area that (according to the plan) isn't excavated or graded," said Paige. "In other words, it's a bulldozer's paradise."

In 1965, when the City of Pacifica and the water district were considering purchasing the park site, their idea was to create a "winderness park." But when the County of San Mateo acquired the property, this phrase was no longer used.

"People are going to use this park," said Commissioner Bill Richardson. "There's one thing you have to build into a park, and that's a thing called control — where you can put these people so they don't run wild and destroy everything there.

"If you let 400 people run wild, it'll take 15 maintenance men a week to clean it up. There's going to be drinking and fooling around. It'll be boys and girls and all that baloney going on.

"We have to keep people in their place so they don't destroy it," he concluded. "If there's no control, I'm against putting anything in there."

Richardson does favor construction of an asphalt walkway in the park. A gravel or unpaved road, he said, would cause accidents, particularly among the elderly. But he wants to restrict cars from the park as much as possible.

Fred Howard, a former member of the commission, represented Fairmont Subdivision Improvement Association at the meeting.

Howard said one problem peculiar to San Pedro Park is that it will be in a residential area. He favors transporting people to the park on shuttle busses and eliminating the planned parking lots.

"The thing that concerns me more than anything else is that people surrounding that area have not been involved in any of the decision making," he concluded.

The commission plans to continue reviewing and discussing the park plans and make a recommendation to the city council at a later date.

In other discussion, the commission reviewed plans for a park at Milagra Road.

San Mateo County is applying to the Federal Government for permission to build a county park on the 220 acre site. 37 acres, adjacent to Sharp Park Road, are slated for use by the Pacifica Park and Recreation Commission.

"This is a chance for Pacifica to get a big stake of land, and we're giving it away to the county," said Richardson. "I don't want the county to get any of it (the 220 acres)."

Various groups have plans for using parcels of the land.

San Mateo County Coastside Study Blasted

By VERN KROGH

A joint study of San Mateo County's Coastside by the Metropolitan Transportation Commission and the Association of Bay Area Governments was attacked Wednesday night.

Mayor Aubrey M. Lumley of Pacifica, vice chairman of the San Mateo County Transit District Board of Directors meeting in Redwood City, said the study showed, "total disdain for the fundamental concepts of due process, home rule, self-determination and the local autonomy guaranteed California communities."

The joint report was outlined in a letter to directors from S. H. Cantwell Jr., county engineer and acting director of the district.

The study, according to Cantwell, is the first of a series of eight "corridor studies" conducted by the committee, and includes all lands west of Skyline Boulevard from Pacifica to the Santa Cruz County line.

"The work of the committee started with formulation and analysis of six 'scenarios,' or hypothetical futures' for the coastal corridor, Cantwell reported. He said the "compact growth scenario," adopted by the committee "is characterized by moderate, controlled growth combined with maximum feasible conservation and preservation of scenic and natural resources. Under these policies, population in the Mid-Coastside (Half Moon Bay and unincorporated areas) would grow by 1990 to about 19,000 (the present population is 11,000), while Pacifica's population would decline to 37,000 from 39,000. Commitment of new land to urbanization would be strictly controlled — confined to the present limits of Half Moon Bay and Pacifica, and the 'Phase I Urbanization Area,' already subdivided in the unincorporated areas.

"Increases in sewer and water capacity would be limited to these levels and location of growth. Areas of critical environmental concern would be protected, prime agricultural land would be preserved as much as possible and recreational uses would be supported and encouraged. No increases in highway capacity would be implemented before 1990, and only if needed after that date. Devil's Slide bypass would be constructed but Highway 380 will not be built. Route 92 will remain at present capacity — at least until 1990. Public transit would accommodate increased recreational traffic."

Cantwell reported that the present policy of the county "places tight restrictions on development outside presently subdivided areas, while protecting agriculture and natural and scenic resources in unsubdivided areas. He reported county policy "as enunciated by the Board of Supervisors over the past several years, is quite clear on improvement of Routes 1 and 92. Route 1, particularly in the Devils Slide area, is clearly inadequate in its present alignment and capacity status,"Cantwell reported. He said at a recent meeting with the joint staff, the county staff "expressed some skepticism as to whether public transit could handle anything like the full amount of anticipated increase in recreational traffic."

The Coast Corridor study, Lumley asserted, "reflects no input from the transit board. If it were not invalid on any other comparison, the study is meaningless because it does not recognize — in fact, ignores — San Mateo County's development goals, plans and desires. The Transit District has been in existence since February, and was not even invited to participate.

Lumley questioned even the legality of the study, and charged, "The unilateral imposition of controls by outside regional agencies on San Mateo County in the fundamental areas of growth, land use and the socio-economic welfare of our residents, under the guise of a transportation study with more justification than a biased, superficial staff study will not go without serious legal challenge of the board.

"The ABAG-MTC coast corridor study is not a transportation study," he continued. "Even a casual reading of the document reveals strong evidence of an anti-growth bias. It is clear, the ABAG staff gave no serious thought to an in-depth analysis of transportation corridor problems and opportunities, but, instead, consciously or unconsciously, used their assignment as a vehicle to display their own predetermined bias on the issues of growth vs. no growth on the San Mateo Coast.

"This bias is clearly evidenced by the loaded titles of the various growth 'scenarios' such as 'environmental protection and recreation,' 'compact growth' and 'dispersed moderate growth,'" Lumley continued.

"The great bulk of the report devotes itself to land planning and growth issues rather than the every pressing realties of transportation needs in our area. Where in the report is there any serious recognition of the traffic-choked, accident-plagued Coast Highway? Where in the report is there an origin and destination analysis showing the characteristics of the people and vehicle movements? Where is the analysis and treatment of intra-and inter-city public transportation needs? Why has the very strong outdoor recreational potential of the Coast and environs not been documented and used in the transportation corridor needs study? What will be both the short and long term socio-economic effects on residents if conclusions of the ABAG's staff's pseudo-study are implemented?

"I feel these and related questions must be answered with complete, valid documentation. All we have to date is a series of biased, predetermined conclusions connected with stereotyped, tenuous reasoning from ABAG's anti-growth staff."

Radio Plan Studied

The San Bruno City Council Monday night instructed city staff to investigate the feasibility of conducting local radio programming over its existing cable system.

By a 4-1 vote, Councilman Tony Governale dissenting, the council acted on a recommendation by Councilman Gary Mondfrans that the city study the possibility of broadcasting programs over radio.

In a memorandum to City Manager Gerald Minford, Mondreans stated: "The present situation of having no broadcast facilities in San Mateo County to provide local news is long existing and perhaps never can be solved. . . .

"A . . . unique possibility exists by the city operating its own closed circuit radio station," the statement read. "Such a station could broadcast over the CATV cable system and or via a very low-powered 'wired' AM outlet."

Mondfrans further suggested in his memorandum that a city radio operation could use existing origination points as KFAL at Crestmoor High School and that "such an outlet could provide invaluable experience for local high school students which could prove immenently helpful to them in entering the commercial media."

Local radio origination, Mondfrans said could be a revenue producer for the city.

"Local murchants could reach the local audience," he stated.

Mondfrans told the council Monday night that a radio operation could involve staff, but, he said, "It's a way to get radio San Bruno on the air," rather than sitting on a potential cable system.

Mayor John Barnard said the "idea has a lot of merit," but expressed concern over the possible cost of the operation.

Councilman Tony Governale, however, called the idea "frivilous," ship-shod" and "a ding-a-ling," suggesting instead that the staff investigate the feasibility of conducting local television programming.

Commented Governale: "That (local radio programming) is not the way to go. "we have a cable system that is designed for television, not radio."

Governale suggested over the next six weeks the city manager study how the city could originate local television programming, including how the operation could be financed. His motion failed by a 3-2 vote, Councilmen Marg Kozkowski, Dick Griffith and Mayor Barnard dissenting.

Mondfrans told the council his suggestion for a city-operated radio station operation was based on a "go-slow attitude," to test the market to determine how many residents would listen to the programming.

Councilmen Dick Griffith agreed that public desirability would have to be acertained before funds were expended for the operation.

Pacifica Council Votes

380 Vote Postponed

That controversial issue of extending freeway 380 from San Bruno into Pacifica which has been haunting Pacifica's elected officials has been moved from the November to the March 1976 ballot.

Chamber of Commerce President Nick Gust Monday night told the council he was "disappointed" in its decision to change election dates. The change was made at a budget study session late last week.

Councilwoman Janice Fulford, who acted as chairwoman in the absence of Mayor Stan Farber, said the councilmen unanimously changed their minds for financial reasons.

The council had been informed that the city would have to pay either $7,000 for a single ballot item or $3,500 if the measure went on the water district ballot.

That was two weeks ago. Farber and council members Aubrey Lumley and Grace McCarthy, however, voted to spend the money for the special election. Councilwoman Fulford lobbied to have the issue placed on the March ballot, where costs would be mainly for printing, because there was no immediacy to the matter.

Explaining the change in elections, Mrs. Fulford said "Councilman Lumley made the motion and I was more than happy to second it."

Gust said he would bring the matter up before the board of directors of the chamber "to drop the issue entirely." The directors initially sought to settle the issue by ballot.

According to Gust, the intent was to have the matter resolved during a non-council election so that "politics" would not enter into the issue.

"I feel that placing it on the March ballot will completely destroy any thoughts pro and con on 380," said Gust. "There's no way that people for 380 will be able to compete with those organized against 380. I can't see how you'll get a true picture. It will be distorted."

Councilman Sid Lorvan said he was "surprised" to hear Gust take that position. Lorvan said there will be more people voting in March than in November, which should provide a more accurate picture of voters' feelings.

Resident Nick Carpenter of 517 Reina Del Mar said the council "made the right move" since the city "is hurting for funds."

Bike Trial Hearing Scheduled

Burlingame's application for permission to build a bicycling trail along San Francisco Bay comes before the Bay Conservation and Development Commission for hearing in San Francisco August 7.

The hearing is first item on BCDC's agenda for an afternoon meeting in the State Building at 455 Golden Gate Avenue, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

A permit is necessary because the proposed bike trail requires construction of a dike 2,000 feet long between Airport Boulevard and the Bay, plus widening the street by two feet, and landscaping.

The project area is within the 100 feet of the Bay shoreline, the area in which BCDC has jurisdiction.

It would also require 100 cubic yards of filling, along the shoreline.

The bike path would wind through Burlingame's shoreside development area from a point near Kee Joon's Restaurant to the Sheraton Airport Hotel.

Bay Commissioners will also review staff reports on historic ships, and on deteriorated piers, during the afternoon.

Pacifica Budget Wins Approval

Pacifica City Council Monday night, as expected, adopted the 1975-76 budget. The tax rate was set at $2.123.

While the vote of those members present was unanimous, Mayor Stan Farber, who was absent, had left a message he would have voted against adoption had he attended the meeting.

Vice-Mayor Janice Fulford said she spoke with Farber earlier in the day and he had said he would not vote for approval because "he felt a need for a certain amount on the tax rate for the purpose of corporation yard construction."

As adopted, the tax rate was $2.029 for general fund, .042 for the city bus system and .052 to retire bonds used in building a school swimming pool and tennis courts.

City Manager Don Weidner echoed Farber's concern about funding a new corporation yard. Required expansion of the sewer treatment plant to the secondary stage is going to eliminate the present use of that facility as a city motor pool.

In a budget session last week the council voted to take $240,000 from the corporation yard building fund to balance the general fund.

Weidner said adopting the budget as proposed would "preclude development of a new corporation yard by this time next year." He said one possible means of financing might be a lease-back arrangement.

"This is remote," he said.

The city manager sought additional direction from the council on what to do about a corporation yard. The council earlier had instructed the staff to check with the owners of Milagra Quarry to see if they'd be interested in selling a parcel for a corporation yard.

Councilman Aubrey Lumley Monday night said he would like placed on the next agenda a proposal that the city look to the 5-acre site near Sharp Park School.

County Heart Donations

Mrs. Irene Hudson, volunteer memorial Editor of the American Heart Association, San Mateo County Chapter, announced $6,048.80 in memorials was received in June, in honor of county residents.

Mrs. Hudson said that while memorial contributions usually are gifts to honor the memory of a deceased person, memorials can be used to remember other occasions, such as weddings, anniversaries and birthdays.

Memorial contributions can be made over the telephone by calling the Heart office at 342-5511.

Daly City residents remembered in June were:

David Gavigan, Vittorio, Reginald A. Jobson, John Martinez, Ethel Orovitz, Madeline Ragni, Marall Smith, Joseph E. St. Clair.

Localites on Dean's List

Four Daly City men were among the 1,333 students on the Deans' List at California Polytechnic State University in San Luis Obispo this spring.

They were honored for grades placing them in the top 15 per cent of the students in their respective schools.

The local scholars were Steven Bucciarelli, electronic engineering; Kenneth Koch, ornamental horticulture; Michael Rea, social sciences; and Miguel Vargas, crop science
